COVENANTERS AND THE WORK OF REV. JOHN CUTHBERTSON

By MISS S. HELEN FIELDS, Washington, D. C.

From the works of Woodrow and Glasgow we learn that in 1685 many Covenanters in Scotland who would not take Oath of Allegiance to the Ruler because of religious scruples, were confined in the Tolbooth of Leith. One George Scott, Laird of Pittochie, was given a promise of liberty and a gift of about 100 prisoners provided he transported them to Eastern New Jersey and landed them before September, 1686. Failure in any way on his part meant a penalty of five hundred marks. A ship of three hundred and fifty tons, with twenty great guns, named the Henry and Francis, was chartered from New Castle by Scott, or Pittochie, as he was called, with Richard Hutton as Master. From the above prisoners Scott made up a company of 125, of which number 31 died on the voyage. In addition to these there were a few others who voluntarily came to America. Five pounds of sterling was required of each adult, and less for children, and if this could not be paid the adult was promised 25 acres of land and a new suit of clothes after he had given four years of service. Scott and his Lady died at sea and John Johnstone, Pittochie's son-in-law, had charge of the prisoners and urged them to sign an agreement to serve the four years at Perth Amboy, N. J., because of the expense incurred by Scott. This they refused to do, and instead filed a protest against their banishment and cruel treatment. The ship sailed from the road of Leith on September 5, 1685, and landed at Perth Amboy the middle of the following December. It twice sprang a leak; fever broke out; food and treatment were intolerable. Influenced by Hutton to sail to Jamaica or Virginia where he could better dispose of the prisoners, Johnstone decided to do so, and only due to a change of the wind was Captain Hutton forced to sail to New Jersey as first planned.

The Covenanters were not welcomed by the people who lived on the coast, but at an inland town (thought to be Woodridge) they were kindly received and all who could travel were invited to live with them, and horses furnished for those who could not walk. The following spring Johnstone had them all cited before a legal tribunal of the Province. Because they had not voluntarily gone to the ship nor bargained in any way, they were, in accordance with the laws of this land, assorted, and were scattered throughout Eastern Pennsylvania, New York and Connecticut. Thereafter, from time to time, the Covenanters were banished from Scotland to New Jersey, Delaware and South Carolina until the latter part of the 17th Century, when the religious persecution ceased.

Into the midst of these distressed but brave people came John Cuthbertson, sent by the Presbytery of Scotland because of their pleading for an Under Shepherd. He set foot on American soil at New Castle, Delaware, August 5, 1751. With him came his sister, Mrs. Archibald Bourns, with her husband and infant son John, and a colony of Covenanters. Mr. Cuthbertson was the First Reformed Presbyterian Missionary to come to America. Young, fearless, and imbued with a God-like spirit, he began his work without delay, and throughout the years struggled long distances on horseback and on foot (usually from his headquarters at Middle Octoraro, Lancaster County, Pennsylvania) over mountain and stream, to bring consolation to his fellow countrymen and to others. He frequently speaks of being cold, sick, hungry, distressed in body and mind, molested, but still never faltered in the task he had set before him. We find him, old and broken, carrying on up to a few months before his death in 1791.

The names of those who came to America on the Henry and Francis in 1685 are cited here as a preliminary to the more than 5,000 different families in Doctor Cuthbertson's Diary, which appear in the manuscript of Miss S. Helen Fields, now ready for printing under title of "Register of Rev. John Cuthbertson."

"THE NEW JERSEY BROWNS,DESCENDANTS OF REV.RICHARD BROWN OF DALKEITH,SCOTLAND, BORN MARCH 1630. HIS SON,GEORGE,BORN IN SCOTLAND,TO EAST JERSEY IN 1685.

A review of a 12p. typed ,8½ x 11, pamphlet by DAVID KENDALL MARTIN of Mouse Hill,West Chazy,N.Y.

The Rev.Richard Brown of Dalkeith, Scotland born March 1630 had at least one son,George born in Scotland last half of the 17th.Century who was a Covenanter,imprisoned Sept.1686 at Leith. He married Annabel (Gordon)Knox widow of William Knox,on Feb. 13,1693.

They came to East Jersey on ship" Henry Francis of Newcastle" together with a shipload of political prisoners,under leadership of A George Scott who had been imprisoned in 1679. Disease and bad weather took their toll on the passage,and Scott and his wife died,leaving his son-in-law John Johnston in command. The ship had sailed on Sept.5,1685 with 105 "prisoners" who had refused to take allegiance to the English KinG.

On arrival in America,John Johnston claimed those that survived as his property, but the Governor of East Jersey called a jury which acquitted all the prisoners.Some of them made their way to New England,a few return to Soctland,but many went to Monmouth County where in 1692 they creayed the first Presbyterian Church in Monmouth County. Also a Quaker settlement at what was then called Topanemus,later to become Marlborough, befriended them.

George Brown himself had been the principal heir and executor of the estate of William Brown of Woodbridge,whose will was dated Dec.28,1698 and proved on Feb.23, 1698/9.George Brown is called "friend" in the will which also left legaciesnto John Brown of Staten Island and John Mour.The will was witnessed by Adam Hude and George Brown.

George Brown was buried in the churchyard of the First Presbyterian at Woodbridge,but by 1931 his inscription on his tombstone was too faint to read.

In this connection it may be interesting to note that the last recorded official act of the church before it left New Jersey, was the public reading of the "Awful Sentence of Excommunication" of three of its members, on August 16, 1789.

Troublous times beset the Shrewsbury Church. The War of Independence had begun, and the ranks of the Colonial armies claimed the father and sons from many an anxious home. Even the faithful pastor, Rev. Jacob Davis, enlisted as a chaplain. To add to the embarrassment and sorrow of the church, some of its members cast their lot with the royalists, and joined the British army.

At Monmouth Court House, now Freehold, only eight or ten miles distant to the northwest, was fought the celebrated Battle of Monmouth, where Washington administered his stinging rebuke to Lee; and where Molly Pitcher, "a stout, red-haired, freckled-faced young, Irish woman with a handsome piercing eye," and but twenty-two years of age, made herself famous for all time by her unique display of bravery.[1]

It was to observe the movements of the British army two days before this hotly contested battle that James Davis, the father of Rev. Jacob Davis, who was pastor of the church at the time of its removal from New Jersey to Virginia, mounted his horse and rode away from his home over to Monmouth Court House, only to return a few hours later fatally wounded by a stray shot from the battle-field, for his grief-stricken family to remove his lifeless body from his faithful horse.

On a line nearly east from Monmouth Court House, and slightly northwest from the village of Squan, at Colt's Neck, some six or eight miles distant, was the home of Captain Joshua Huddy, a terror to the British throughout Monmouth county, who, when captured by the enemy, was wantonly put to death by hanging.

Directly to the eastward, at the mouth of Shark River, some three or four miles distant, the British disembarked one day and burnt the salt works on both sides of the river. At about the same time they burnt the salt works and destroyed the kettles on both sides of the mouth of the Manasquan River, some five or six miles down the coast from Shark River.

Only a short distance away were the "Pines," infested by Indians, pirates, and other robbers, who lived in caves and preyed upon the surrounding country—a constant menace throughout the war.

But the ravages of war were not permitted to stop the advancement of the interests of the church. The pastor, Rev. Jacob Davis, obtained occasional furloughs from his duties as chaplain in the American army, and came home to administer to the spiritual wants of his flock. He preached, conducted communion services, and baptized and received new converts into membership in the church.

Under the zealous leadership of the devoted pastor, in January, 1778, the church opened a subscription for funds with which to complete a house of worship, and "accordingly a quantity of money was collected for that purpose."

The first record concerning a house of worship is dated March 3, 1775, when the church voted to build a meeting house "on the south-east corner of Zebulon Maxson's land lying on one of the branches coming out of the branch commonly known as the Great Branch, the said Zebulon Maxson having given his free consent thereunto."

For this lot which was situated in the little village of Squan, Zebulon Maxson executed the following deed:—

"To all Christian People to whom these presents shall come:

"Know ye that I, Zebulon Maxson, of Shrewsbury Township, in the County of Monmouth and Eastern Division of New Jersey, Cordwainder, for and in consideration of love, good-will, and affection which I have and do bear towards my loving brethren, the Seventh Day Baptist Church inhabiting in Shrewsbury Township as aforesaid, I have given, granted, and by these presents do voluntarily of my own free will and accord with the consent of Experience, my wife, give and grant unto the said church or society of people as aforesaid a lot of land for a meeting house lying near the road that goes across the South Branch of Little Brushy Neck, which said land the said Zebulon Maxson lays claim unto by virtue of a deed of sale from David Hall [?], beginning at a heap of stones planted in the earth about thirty links easterly of said road, first running north sixty-three degrees and thirty minutes east two chain and twenty-five links; secondly, south, twenty-six degrees and thirty minutes east two chain and twenty-five links; thirdly, south sixty-three degrees and thirty minutes west two chain and twenty-five links to the brook by the side of the road to where it crosses the said brook; fourthly, north twenty-six degrees and thirty minutes west to where it began, containing eighty-one perches, strict

In witness hereof I have hereunto put my hand and seal this third day of April, in the year of our Lord God, one thousand, seven hundred and seventy-five.

"ZEBULON MAXSON, [L. S.]"

"Signed, sealed and delivered in the presence of:—
"THOMAS DAVIS, JR.,
"JOHN MAXSON,
"JACOB DAVIS."

The building was ready for the roof by October 27, 1776, when it was voted to proceed with covering it as soon as possible. It was built with a white oak frame, which after standing a century and a quarter, is still firm and solid. It was about thirty feet in length by twenty-five feet in width. On the 8th of August, 1789, the church voted to sell the meeting house and put the proceeds into the treasury of the church.

Four weeks afterward, or on "September the 6th, 1789, then did the body of this church remove from Shrewsbury in order to settle in the State of Virginia. Names: Our Elder, Jacob Davis, with all his family; William Davis, senior; John Davis; Ephraim Maxson; Thomas Badcock [sic]; and Zebulon Maxson; and Benjamin Thorp; with all their families. And on the thirteenth of the same month, set out from the same place these brethren; viz., Simeon Maxson; William Davis, Junior; and William Maxson; with all their families."

Ahmes Son?

The group which started first, appears to have stopped at Clay Pit Creek, in Middletown, for a farewell visit with such friends there as were not going to Virginia, and when joined at that place by the second group which started a week later from Shrewsbury, they all proceeded together on their journey.

Rev. Simeon Babcock, who was about five years of age at the time he accompanied his parents upon this journey, says there were "seven wagons in number." James Davis, who was sixteen years of age when the migration to Virginia took place, and who, also, was one of the company of travellers, says "The train consisted of fifteen wagons." Morgan Edwards, who visited Squan, November 18, 1789, a little more than two months after the departure of the emigrants, says "seventy-two souls" had gone. Still another member of the company, seventeen years of age at the time, says there were ten wagons with seventy souls. The church record shows that ten families started from Shrewsbury.

It is not only possible, but somewhat probable that the original company from Shrewsbury was augmented by recruits from Middletown, and from Piscataway. A daughter of the first William Davis lived at Piscataway, and from this place had started a movement westward, led by Samuel Fitz Randolph, before the Shrewsbury Church started. The different times of starting, as well as the possible several points of starting, make it possible for all the statements of eye witnesses as to the number of wagons and the number of emigrants to be correct.

When the procession was ready to start, the people all assembled in a grove, where their pastor, Rev. Jacob Davis, preached a short farewell sermon for those left behind, after which the travellers partook of refreshments provided for them by their friends, and then started on their long tedious journey, extending more than four hundred miles westward.

The emigrants settled on White Day Creek in what is now Monongalia County, West Virginia. Here they tarried for two years or more, where William Davis died July 15, 1791.

not mine died 1740 & 1805

The new settlers were disappointed, however, in their land, which according to Morgan Edwards, was obtained through a man by the name of Reed.[1]

The new comers from New Jersey had friends a few miles away across the Pennsylvania border, north of the Cheat River. Among them was Samuel Fitz Randolph, who had a short time before, purchased a tract of land lying on the waters of Ten Mile Creek, a branch of the West Fork of the Monongahela River, some fifty miles beyond White Day Creek. Samuel Fitz Randolph persuaded the dissatisfied settlers at White Day Creek to go and inspect his new purchase, as well as other lands adjacent, consisting largely of five thousand acre tracts. As a result, the new settlers from Shrewsbury purchased farms, and moved to this place, where was laid out the Village of New Salem, on the lands of Samuel Fitz Randolph.

The influences which drew the Shrewsbury Church away from its New Jersey home, as well as a history of the first settlement at New Salem, will be discussed in a subsequent chapter.

from Shrewsbury in order to settle in the state of Virginia. Names: Rev. Jacob Davis, with his family; William Davis, Senior; John Davis; Ephraim Maxson; Thomas Babcock; Zebulon Maxson; Benjamin Thorp, with all their families.

"September 13, 1789. Also set out the following from the same place: Simeon Maxson; William Davis, Junior; William Maxson, with all their families."

The next date that appears in the records is May 13, 1792, after the church had settled at New Salem, Harrison County, Virginia. The church there became known as the New Salem Church, to correspond with the name of the new place of settlement.

MEETING HOUSE.

For thirty years the church had no meeting house, but met for worship in the homes of its members in the township of Shrewsbury near the Manasquan and Shark rivers; and in the township of Middletown in the vicinity of Clay Pit Creek. For a time, business meetings and communion services alternated between the two towns.

Upon the whole, however, meetings were more frequently held in Shrewsbury where the larger part of the membership of the church lived, between the Manasquan and Shark rivers. Here the church voted, March 3, 1775, to build a meeting house, which was to be located on the southwest corner of Zebulon Maxson's land, lying on one of the branches coming out of the branch commonly known as the Great Branch, "said Zebulon Maxson having given his free consent thereunto."

But progress was slow. On October 27, 1776, the building had advanced far enough for the roof, and this the church voted to put on as soon as possible. The records of the church also show that in January, 1778, a sum of money was raised for the building of the meeting house.

The building was thirty feet by thirty-two feet, built with a heavy white oak frame, which at the present writing is still in excellent condition.

On the 8th of August, 1789, the church sold the meeting house to a man by the name of Reed, to whom the members also sold their farms; and a few weeks afterward the majority of the families of the church set out "in order to setle in the State of Verginey."[1]

The meeting house now passed into the hands of strangers, and for a period of forty years little is known of its history. About the year 1830, it was used by the Free Methodists as a house of worship, and not long after that date was moved from its original site on what is now known as the Kirby Farm, which is, at the date of this writing, owned by Bartine Newman, Esq., to a point about a mile and a quarter nearly due northeast towards the Shark River, up on top of the hill at the cross roads now known as Glendola, where it served as a Union Chapel, and was used chiefly by the Free Methodists, Baptists, and Universalists. Here it stood for several years without floor or plastering, with many of the clapboards (weather-boards) off, giving free access to the birds and squirrels. The seats consisted of heavy planks or slabs with two holes bored into each end, and into the holes were driven stout wooden pegs a foot and a half long, which served as legs.

Norman see Bloys note

In more recent years the meeting house was purchased by the Methodist Protestant Church, turned so that it faces the east instead of the north, and is now used as a house of worship by that church.

Since its last removal, three additions have been made to the meeting house. The first adds about ten feet to the main body of the church in front, allowing a third window to be put in on each side. The second is a tower about ten feet square starting from the ground, at the middle of the front of the main body of the building and terminating in a spire. The third addition, at the rear, not so wide as the main body of the structure, is about ten feet deep, and contains the pulpit and choir box. A gallery extends the entire length of the main part of the building on both sides and across the front.[2]

The original site of the meeting house and the adjoining graveyard is overgrown with briers and bushes. In the June 19, 1746. John Davis was chosen elder. Arrangements were made at this meeting to send him to Westerly to be ordained as a minister, and Joseph Maxson was appointed to write a letter to the church at Westerly making known the wishes of the Shrewsbury Church. Five days afterward, John Davis took this letter and set sail for Westerly, where he arrived safely after a week's voyage. Here the letter was read at the Sabbath service on the 12th of July. The Westerly Church voted to accede to the request of the Shrewsbury Church; and in the afternoon of the following day, John Davis was solemnly ordained to the sacred duties of the Gospel ministry by Rev. Joseph Maxson, assisted by Rev. John Maxson, and Deacon Clarke.[1]

November 11, 1758. Rev. Jonathan Dunham baptized Rebecca Brand.

——— 1760. Joshua Maxson baptized Joseph Davis of Middletown.

June 27, 1773. Rev. Jonathan Jarman baptized and received into the church Mary, wife of Jacob Davis.

June 19, 1774. Jacob Davis called to the ministry (licenced) by the church. Called to ordination December 25, 1774, when the church voted to send to Piscataway for assistance at the ordination service. On the fourth Sabbath in February he was ordained by Rev. Jonathan Dunham and Rev. Jonathan Jarman.

December 4, 1774. Rev. Henry Dawson baptized John Parker and Mary Maxson.

September 24, 1775. Simeon Maxson, who had virtually been licenced by the church to preach, was silenced because of lack of harmony between him and the church. On December 3d, 1775, he acknowledged to the church that he had been in error concerning certain of his views relating to the Eternal Judgment, but he declared that he would continue to preach despite the vote of silence on the part of the church.

September 8, 1776, Simeon Maxson was debarred from communion on a quadruple charge:

1st. Of non-attendance at church.

2d. The declaration that his brethren and sisters in the church "are the children of the Devil, and his works we do, and that the Devil is our father."

3d. His complaint that the pastor of the church taught carnal war.

4th. His assertion that a visitation of sickness upon the church was due to the fact that the members of the church joined with the carnal war—(the war of the Revolution was then in progress).

July 13, 1783. Simeon Maxson confessed his fault in having spoken against the pastor and thereby "gave satisfaction to the church."

September 14, 1788. A question rose as to whether Henry Lafferty should be silenced or given an extension of licence to preach.[2] It was decided to allow him to continue to preach.

[2] His name was really McLafferty. He was born in Ireland. He came to America when a boy as a "redemptioner." He spent his time of service at the mouth of the Manasquan River with a salt manufacturer, probably Thomas Babcock, whose daughter Elisabeth afterwards became his wife. He did not accompany or follow the Shrewsbury church to Virginia. He remained at Shrewsbury for a few years and subsequently became the pastor of the Piscataway Seventh Day Baptist church.

July 12, 1789. Gideon Day confessed that a letter of licence to preach, purporting to have been issued by a people on a "branch of Wyoming," which he had presented, was a counterfeit, and that he had told falsehoods concerning it. He was placed under the censure of the church.

RULING ELDERS.

The belief and practise of the church regarding ruling elders varied from time to time. The action of the church on that question at various times was as follows:—

December 25, 1774. "The first thing in consideration is whether it is not thought necessary that there should be ruling elders appointed to take charge in part, of this church, and to endeavour to go to any brother or sister out of the way, to admonish them; and likewise it was thought necessary that some persons should be appointed to this office to assist the person [sic; parson is doubtless meant], or minister, and accordingly Brother Joseph Maxson of Middletown, and Thomas Babcock of Shrewsbury, is appointed to this work."

May 14, 1786. Henry Lafferty and John Davis were appointed ruling elders.

DEACONS.

The following record appears concerning deacons of the Shrewsbury Church:—

February, 1752. Thomas Babcock and Thomas Davis were appointed deacons by the church.

June 19, 1774. Ephraim Maxson was chosen deacon.

December 25, 1774. William Davis was chosen deacon.

May 19, 1786. It was voted by the church that Ephraim Maxson be ordained deacon.

October 27, 1786. Ephraim Maxson was ordained deacon, with the assistance of Rev. William Bliss, of Rhode Island.

MODERATOR.

But one moderator of the church is named in the records of the church before it left Shrewsbury, and that is Thomas Davis, who was elected moderator March 3, 1775.

CLERK.

The records of the church do not contain the name of the church clerk until after the church had left Shrewsbury and settled at New Salem, Virginia.

CHURCH MEETING AND COMMUNION SERVICE.

March 3, 1775. The church voted that church meeting should be held the last First Day of the week in every month, and that communion service should occur on the last Sabbath in November, February, May, and August, respectively.

March 3, 1776. The Quarterly Meeting was changed to the third Sabbath in February, May, and August, respectively; and the Yearly Meeting to the first Sabbath in November.

FAST DAYS.

A day of fasting and prayer was appointed about the year 1750 to relieve William Brand from the gout.

May 11, 1777. The church voted that the Fifth Day of the week preceding communion service, should be a public fast day. This action was doubtless inspired by the troublous times of the American Revolution, which was a very trying period to the Shrewsbury Church.

WESTERN VIRGINIA.

THAT part of Western Virginia, now the state of West Virginia, which is occupied by the Seventh Day Baptists, previous to its occupation by white men, had been the home of the Mound Builders and of the Indians. It lies but a few miles southeast of Moundsville, now one of the prominent towns of West Virginia, which takes its name from a large conical mound at that place. This mound is one of the noted pre-historic monuments of America. When it was opened in 1838, there was found a sculptured stone covered with unknown characters, which J. W. Powell, director of the United States Bureau of Ethnology describes as follows:—"Four of the characters correspond to the ancient Greek, four to the Etruscan, five to the Norse, six to the Gaelic, seven to the old Erse, and ten to the Phoenician." While these characters are generally accepted as the same as those of the Pelasgi and other early Mediterranean people, it is not unlikely that ultimately they will be accepted as a highly refined type of the pictorial or ideographic characters common to the early inhabitants of North America.

This mound is two hundred and forty-five feet in diameter at the base, seventy-nine feet in height, in shape like the frustum of a cone, with a flat apex fifty feet across. Other similar mounds of smaller dimensions have been found in the more immediate vicinity of the Seventh Day Baptists in West Virginia.

HISTORY OF THE OLD TENNENT CHURCH REV. FRANK R SYMMES

PERRINEVILLE CHURCH, NJ (where our Brown's are buried)

The old New Brunswick Presbytery appears to have been watchful of promising places for the establishing of churches, and of supplying destitute districts with the means of grave. An interesting item occurs in its records under date April 28, 1802: "The committee appointed to enquire into the State of frontier Settlements Reported that there is a considerable extent of country on the Sea coast, between 80 & an 100 miles in length & about 20 in breadth very destitute of the means of grance: There are some willages considerable inhabited & tolerable productive, but generally the country is of a thin Soil & thinly inhabited. Their religious instruction hath been chiefly from the Methodist, who we believe have been useful among them." Obviously this refers to the southeastern portions of the state. Perrineville was an outstation of the older churches that early became an important point. Preaching services were conducted there possibly as early as 1777. Dr. Woodhull manifested special interest in this work, and secured regular preaching services at Perrineville by Rev. Joseph Clark, who had been a theological student under his care, and in 1784 was ordained as an evangelist. Mr Clark became paster at Allentown, NJ, June 1788, having preached there regularly for a considerable time previous. After this there was an arrangement by which Perrineville was regularly supplied with preaching by the pastors of Old Tennent, Cranbury, and Allentown. This continued until 1826, when on June 5, of that year, the Perrineville church was organized. Rev. Symmes C. Henry acting as the committee. The church took the name of "The Second Presbyterian Church of Upper Freehold." This name was changed by an act of the legislature in 1847 to the name of "The First Church of Millstone." Rev. Wm. Henry Woodhull, grandson of Rev. John Woodhull, was the first pastor at Perrineville, being installed there Sept. 6, 1826, and continuing in the office fore more than five years. There were thirteen original members in the church.

HISTORY OF THE OLD TENNENT CHURCH
COMPILED BY REV. FRANK R. SYMMES 15th Paster
CRANBURY, NJ 1904

Thus Wm. Tennent's statement was founded on testimony of living witnesses, that the Scotch were persecuted for loyalty to their church is a matter of history. From Wm Tennent's statement it is not improbable to suppose that more than one that worshipped in the Old Scots meeting house had been a sad witness of such atrocious work as that of Viscount John Graham (Claverhouse) and his dragoons, and of the horrible tortures and dreadful sufferings of the prisoners in the damp and foul Dunottar Castle; and had heard "the piteous prayers" of their Covenanter brethen. (read Wodrow)

The covenanters were chiefly Scotch Presbyterians that hated and opposed prelacy. They believed that Christ is the head of the church, and the authority in all true religion, and that no man could usurp these prerogatives. They would not unite in worship that was led and governed by so-called functionaries. Therefore they refused to conform to the zealous effort of King Charles 11 to impose the rites and modes of prelatic worship upon them. Disobedience to the king's order by these non-conforming Presbyterians was especially manifested in their attendance on "conventicles," or gatherings for worship apart from the established church, and often held in private houses or in retired glens. This opposition to the king's will was the cause of a bitter and bloody persecution of twenty-eight years, from 1660-1688. "The Highland Watch, as it was called, was let loose upon the country (Scotlant): its inhabitants were spoiled of their goods; cast into prisons, banished, and sold as slaves; and multitudes of them shot in cold blood, and otherwise butchered, sometimes with, and sometimes without form of law." (Orme) Some have estimated that during these twenty-eight years about 18,000 people were either banished or put ot death.

During the summer of 1685, in the period of the "Killing times" so called, about one hundred men and women were imprisoned in Dunottar Castle, a strong fortress in eastern Scotland, built on a great rock looking out over the North Sea. It is now in ruins. Here these people were shut up in a vault which "was ankle deep in mire, with but one window overlooking the sea. They were without any convenience for sitting. leaning or lying, and, indeed, so full was the place, that little more than sitting room was afforded. Stifled for want of air, stinted for both food and water, many died, and others became afflicted with diseases." (Whitehead) And when several attempted to escape, some were retaken and subjected to excruciating torture by having matches put between their fingers and kept burning for three hours. The scars of these and other barbarous tortures were carried by the persecuted ones thru after life. This reminds one of the story of the "Black Hole" in India, seventy years later. Toward the close of the summer these Dunottar Prisoners were marched down to Leith, most of them on foot, "and their hands tied behind their back with small cords," making a weary journey of sexty-six miles after their dreadful incarceration.

Pervious to this, a certain George Scot, laird of Pitlochie, having been fined and imprisoned a number of times for the sake of his religion, determined to sail for the plantations in East Jersey, seeking to find there a refuge from the troublous times in his native land. Permission was granted him by the authorities to pass from the kingdom "without any Let, Impediment, or Malestation." He chartered a vessel, "the Henry and Francis, of Newcastle, a ship 350 tons, and twenty great guns, Richard Hutton, master," or captain. Then he publicly announced his purpose of sailing to the colonies, and invited and solicited others who were of his mind, and like him persecuted, to take passage along with him. Scot's project was quite extensive. He put out a volum of 272 pages under the title "The Model of the Government of the Province of East New-Jersy in America; and encouragement for such as design to be concerned there." (red in NJ Hist. Soc. Collection, Vol.1) Many joined Scots company. Most of the Dunottar prisoners, then lying in the tolbooth at Leith, were sentenced to perpetual banishment to America, because they tenaciously and conscientiously held to eheir religious principles. A considerable portion of them were transferred as a gift to the laird of Pitlochie; that is, he was to carry them to America and there dispose of them so as to receive their passage money. But verily, in this way, he was acting as a quasi deliverer to these poor persecuted and mutilated prisoners.

The vessel set sail from the port of Leith on Sept 5, 1685, having on board in all about 200 persons, of whom 72 are said to have been banished prisoners. One historian related how these prisoners suffered on shipboard by being disturbed in their worship under deck by the captain causing great planks to be thrown down among them. The voyage was sadly disastrous. A sickness of virulent lever broke out, especially among the prisoners; but also among the passengers to the deep.

THE NEW JERSEY BROWNS

The final decision that made George Brown, a son of the clergyman, Reverend Richard Brown, Dalkeith, Scotland, give up his home and country for the unknown America, must have been profound and intense or very desperate. The new country, to these unbending Covenanters, was appealing. Life was troublesome and uncertain in Scotland. Even the dangers of the unknown were preferable to the religious intolerance under James the Second, their King.

The Scottish Reformation, the outcome of Knox's preaching, was, as Carlyle observed, "the one epoch in the history of Scotland." The internal life of the country was kindled and after a prolonged period of slumber, Scotland, rose from the dead.

The Covenanters were the natural product of this resurrection which was destined to be, in the words of the martyr, James Guthrie, "Scotland's Reviving." A country that was in the throws of such a revival had necessarily to pass through a period of persecution and bloodshed. The lives and liberty of her sons and daughters were freely sacrificed upon the altar of patriotism and principle. Women, as well as men, of all classes were haled to prison and the stake, or languised in the gloomy dungeons of Dunottar Castle, branded on the cheek and transported to America, or perished in the waters of Solway - victims of the bigotry and prejudice of a narrow-minded age.

The Scottish Presbyterians of the seventeenth century were engaged in a hard fight for a continuance of that religious liberty which their forefathers had enjoyed. When the royal hand of James attempted to enforce the adoption of the, to them, obnoxious English liturgy, they preferred persecution and death itself in preference to admitting the divine right of Kings to impose their will upon their conscience. They had been attached to the Presbyterian Church for many years. In it was a form of Church government which Charles II had promised to preserve. When James, therefore, proceeded to establish Episcopacy and declared the solemn League and Covenant unlawful, and invested himself with the sole right to decide all ecclesiastical and civil affairs, he succeeded in rousing in the minds of the Covenanters the strongest sense of injustice and a spirit of inflexible opposition. Parliament, by the King's command, ordered all ministers who had been admitted to parishes since 1649, to receive moneys for the Bishop or else leave their churches. The places soon became filled by youthful curates, many incompetent and some unworthy to officiate. As a result, the Presbyterians flocked to the meetings which the dismissed ministers began to hold in the fields. This was followed by a decree in 1663, that all who absented themselves from their parish on the Lord's Day, should incur stringent penalties. Women were not included in this act, but as they were the chief offenders, it was soon found necessary to hold their husbands responsible for their misdoing.

Thus it came about that women, whose only crime lay in non-attendance at church were, not only a cause of persecution to their husbands but were themselves insulted, fined and imprisoned. Ill treatment, however, only served to fan the flame of their enthusiasm to a white heat. As the resistance grew more strenuous and determined, the persecution became more bitter. These secret meetings engendered a spirit of enthusiasm which bordered upon fanaticism and brought upon themselves suspicion and deeds of cruelty.

From "A Group of Scottish Women," by Harry Graham, published in 1908, we read,"Among those who appeared before the Council and acknowledged that they frequented the conventicles of Mrs. John Welsh and Samuel Arnot and scorned to secure liberty by taking the oath of supremacy, was George Scot of Pitlochie, who was not only fined but imprisoned until the fines were paid." In 1677, Scot was summoned before the Council and sent to prison for the second time. The following August, his wife, Margaret Riggs - Lady Pitlochie - was fined as well. In 1679, for the third time was he fined and imprisoned in the Bass.

Naturally, his thoughts turned toward a land where he and his wife might "freely enjoy their own principles, without hazard or trouble." During his last imprisonment, he addressed a petition to the Council, praying for his release, engaging to go to the "plantations," (Province of East Jersey), and take with him his wife's cousin, one of the obnoxious preachers. By April, 1684, the Laird of Pitlochie found himself one more at liberty and his proposition accepted.

There was published in Edinburgh in 1685 a rare pamphlet containing an attractive description of "The Province of East New Jersey." It was published by an enterprising Scotchman named George Scot, who as a Covenanter suffered heavy looses at that time. He conceived the idea of retrieving his lost estates by securing from the Government, permission to transport to these Plantations, his former associates in prison.

The Council authorized Scot,by warrant, to transport to these plantations a hundred prisoners, confined at Glasgow, Edinburg and Stirling and also, under the dates of August 17, 25, 21, 1685, one hundred and five persons who had refused the oath of Allegiance to the King, or had been previously banished, and these in the Tolbooth of Leith were ordered to be delivered to Scot to be transported to East New Jersey, on his giving security to land there. Scot had chartered the " Henry Francis of New Castle," a ship of three hundred and fifty ton, and twenty great guns; Richard Hutton, Master. It was not until the 5th of September 1685, that the vessel left the harbour of Leith.

"For as much as the persons underwritten, viz. - (here follows a list of seventy-four persons, including George Brown and Annabel Gordon) - at present prisoners in the Tolbooth at Leith, being convened before the Lords of His Majesty's Privy Council, at the instance of His Majesty's Advocate, for several crimes and irregularities, refusing the oath of Allegiance, or to own the King's authority, or take the oath of Abjuration, in manner of length libelled, and all the said persons being men, have judicially, in the presence of the Council, refused to take or sign the oath of Allegiance and the women above said, having altogether refused to own His Majesty's authority, or take the oath of Abjuration, the Lords of His Majesty's Privy Council have banished, and do hereby banish herein forenamed persons, men and women, conform to the act of Parliament, to His Majesty's plantations abroard, and discharge them ever to return to this Kingdom here-after, without the King or Council's special license, under pain of death, to be inflicted on them, without mercy, and further ordain the herein forenamed persons, as also the persons underwritten, formerly setenced to the plantations, and now prisoners in the Tolbooth of Leith, viz. - (Here follows a list of names) to be delived to Mr. George Scot of Pitlachnie, and by him transported to His Majesty's plantations in the East New Jersey, in the ship now lying in the road of Leith, now bounding thither, upon his finding sufficient caution to transport the herein forenamed persons, to the foresaid plantations, and to report a certificate of their landing there, from the Governor or the Deputy Governor of the place, one in September, in the year 1686, under the penalty of five hundreds for each one of them, in case of failure.

List of passengers upon the Henry Francis of New Castle, of interest to our family: George Brown, James Grier (Griexson), John Frazer, Bessie Gordon, George Johnson, John Marshall, Fergus Grier, Annabel Gordon *, John Johnstone. The * after names of those, who left a protest of banishment from Scotland.

Several died on the voyage, including George Scot and wife Margaret Scot.

Scot, his wife and sister-in-law, with two children, died on the voyage and the direction of the voyage developed upon John Johnstone, who was Scot's son-in-law. The Captain suggested changing the course to either Jamaica or Virginia, either place presenting better opportunities for the employment of servants than New Jersey. His suggestion did not carry.

The original charge for transportation was five pounds sterling for each adult, and to each of those who were unable to pay for their passage was promised twenty-five acres of land and a new suit of clothes, upon the completion of four years service to those who advanced the requisite amount.

Johnstone endeavored to prevail upon the prisoners, before landing, to enter into voluntary agreements to serve four years in accordance with the terms before mentioned, in consideration for the expense incurred by Scot for their transportation. This they would not do, but joined in another protest against their banishment, recounting at length the hardships of the voyage.

At length they arrived at New Jersey. The prisoners met with harsh treatment from the people when they first came ashore.

The next spring Mr. Johnstone claimed the prisoners as his property and had them all summoned before the Court of the Province. After hearing the facts the Government called a jury, who acquitted the prisoners.

The exile, George Brown, settled in Woodbridge, near Perth Amboy. Memories of many descendants retain the oft-told story of the remains of this ship "Henry and Francis of New Castle" lying battered and broken on the shores near Perth Amboy.

George Brown married Annabel Gordon Knocks (Knox), widow of William Knocks (Knox), the companion of George thru sorrow and joy.

The Cemetery adjacent to the First Presbyterian Church of Woodbridge, NJ, is of peculiar interest to the Jersey Browns. It is one of the oldest in the State and most intersting to lovers of local history.

Lost in the shadow of the fallen stones, we find the old headstone of George Brown, Annabel, his wife, beside him. A memorial stone has been placed on the grave of Jennet Knocks (Knox), daughter of Annabel, by her first marriage, Jennet was the wife of Thomas Edgar.

Beside their father and mother, George and Annabel, lie James, the eldest son and his wife Agnes. Adjacent, are Thomas and William, third son of George.

George Brown was married to Annabel Knocks, February ye 13th, 1693. George was a desirable member of a small community. He was identified with church work for we read: " The said Petitioners therefore humbly pray our Grant of an incorporation to the Petitioners, the Name of the Trustees of the First Presbyterian Church, in the township of Woodbridge  and that George Brown, among others, might be the first Trustees."

During Mr. Wade's pastorate and "in October 1710, George Brown and his wife were given communion."

There is no mention among the list of passengers of the "Henry and Francis of New Castle" of daughter Jennet Knocks, and we only conjecture that as soon as possible she was permitted to come to be with her mother and new father. (There was no mention of William Knocks being aboard the Henry and Francis of New Castle). ***

* In list of passengers, John Frazer (Frazee) was relation to our grandmother Hannah (Anna) Cottrell Brown, as stated on her death cerificate, Grier because one of our descendants were named for this family, Johnson because our relation Joseph Brown b 1733 married a Rachel Johnson and members of that same family also spelled their name Johnstone.

* New Jersey Browns, by Mrs. S. A. Brown, President of the Federation Garden Clubs of NY State, published 1931, Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

* In the Piscataway and Woodbridge town records, William Knocks was a fellow passenger of our George Brown on the Henry and Francis of New Castle.

George Brown was a first settler of Woodbridge, NJ. He bound himself to John Marshall, (a fellow passenger on the Henry & Francis), 1667, May 14th. There was another William Brown in Woodbridge, NJ, a leading first settler. This William died 1698-9 leaving a will, dated December 28, 1698, and pro February 23, 1698-9, it names no wife  but mentions a John Browne of Staten Island, NY, John Moore, George Browne of Woodbridge who was exctr. and witness, with Adam Hude of Woodbridge, May 18, 1699; letters test. to George Browne - so we will assume that this William Brown was the brother of our George Brown, as well as the above mentioned John Browne was also a brother. Our original spelling of Brown was Browne, I found this information in a letter that our grandfather Charles P. Brown had received from his sister Deborah Brown De Bow, Imslay, Debow.

Staten Island was Huguenot Island, 1665 - 1910 - John Marshall who became master of George Brown lived at Staten Island, NY, and our George lived there too, as well as the above mentioned John Browne, George Brown removed to NJ at a later date. John Brown lived at Staten Island in 1699.

Summary: George and Annabel were married while a member of the Episcopal Church of Woodbridge, NJ, was married by a Justice of Peace and later became members of the Presbyterian Church, Woodbridge, NJ.

Because of John Marshall or perhaps George Brown, these two were involved with the Huguenots before George married Annabel. Perhaps our George Brown was a Huguenot living in Scotland, the Scots were eager to marry French women. The Huguenot Refugees provided England with some of her finest craftmen during the greater part of a century. These refugees were welcomed in England.

I also found our George Brown looking at land in Burlington, NJ, before his marriage via horseback, at the Delaware Falls.

George Brown was a tailor by trade, in Scotland and America.

George Brown was a overseer at Woodbridge in 1713 and his son James was overseer in 1726.

George Brown died February 18, 1717 age 58

Annabel Gordon Knocks Brown died 1731 age 70

Andrew Brown born 1705 at Woodbridge, NJ, married Sarah ______________. I cannot find any information concerning their marriage but believe Sarah to be a Fitz Randolph, daughter of Joseph & Hannah Davis Fitz Randolph of Woodbridge, NJ, and members of the 7th Day Baptist (Adventist). Children of Joseph & Hannah Fitz Randolph: Eunice - Joseph - Sarah - all member of 7th Day Baptist, buried at Stelton Baptist Church, Piscataway, NJ, cannot find Andrew's grave.

This William Brown built sail boats, he built the PRUDENCE a 30 ton schooner, Howell, NJ, on the Manasquan River (Brielle).

* at the time of Joseph Brown's death, 1804, there were only two sons mentioned.

Our Brown family lived in the Navesink area of Middletown, Monmouth Cty, NJ, in the Clay Pit Creek section, at one time it was called Riceville. Claypit Creek, now Locust Point derived its name from the clay pits located near the village of Navesink. The material procured from these pits was utilized in many useful ways, by the early residents. Its texture made it possible to plaster the walls of their houses as well as making clay jugs.

Navesink Village is on the Navesink River (Upper Shrewsbury River), a village nestling between the hills of Navesink Highlands on the east and the Chapel Hill range on the west dates back in history to the earliest settlement of this section of the country. It has always been a favorite resort for those engaged on the water, and those procuring a livelihood from the water. The village is located about midway, and within easy distance, between Sandy Hook, which is in full view from the town and Clay Pit Creek. The main property was elevated, commanding a fine view of the bay and the valley of Navesink and Leonardville. The Brown farm lay adjoining and to the west. It contained about one hundred acres. This property had a value peculiar to itself, as will be seen.

John Maxson Brown came from a family long prominent among sea-fearing men, Captain Brown was born near what is now known as Brielle, formerly named Union Landing, where his father, William Brown, was a leading ship builder. Capt. Brown's mother Sarah, moved to West Windso NJ - near Highstown - after her husband's death (William Brown), when John Brown was a small child, his boyhood was spent in West Windsor, NJ and in 1829 he first went to sea. He was awarded the gold medal of Life Saving for the rescue of scores of ships and hundreds of lives by the Life Saving Association. Until 65 years of age this remarkable man was actively engaged in hazardous work, he retired in 1873.

John and Ann Pearce Brown owned and operated the Union House, Union Lane, Brielle, NJ, which was a boarding house for summer residence and Robert Lewis Stevenson wrote, "The Master of Ballantrae," at this boarding house. The Union House burned down around the year of 1912, at that time it was managed by John and Ann Pearce Brown's daughter, Adelaide Virginia Brown Wainright.

Squan Beach was a popular place for ship wrecks, there was no light between Barnegat and the Highland, NJ. It was a depressing sight when the sea was bad and there were ship wrecks.

Captain Theodore S.P. Brown was called Captain Dory, son of John Maxson Brown, another son was O H Brown, which a boat is named for.

made acquainted with the circumstances above related (probably from conversation with Dr. Hardenburgh, who was the pastor of Mrs. Brokaw), and his sympathies were so excited in her behalf that he rode up to this house one day—a distance of five miles—to call on her. When he entered the house he was deeply affected, and with many kind and comforting words expressed his sorrow for her bereavement. We have always regarded this incident in our Revolutionary history as one of the most affecting and beautiful manifestations of the great and tender heart of the Father of his Country.

The house is now occupied by Mr. Nevius, whose wife is a great-granddaughter of Capt. Brokaw. As a monument of Washington's tender heart, it ought to stand until it crumbles into dust.

THE LEGEND OF CHIMNEY ROCK.

The following legend of the Raritan Indians and Chimney Rock is condensed from an article written by Rev. Abr. Messler, D.D., in 1841:

History informs us that the 1200 Indians of the Raritan were presided over by two kings, and that they were the deadly enemies of the Manhattans. The two Raritan chiefs were named Canackamack and Thingorawis, according to the signatures affixed to the deeds of Indian title. Tradition gives the origin of the feud between the two tribes, who had long dwelt in amity. Long prior to the time of the kings above named a son of the king of the Manhatae, with a hunting-party, fell in with a similar party of the Raritans. After several days of friendly companionship, during which the young Manhatae chief was a guest in the wigwam of the king of the Raritans, the latter promised him the hand of his only daughter, the beautiful Chinqueka ("Goldfinch") as his bride. The youth and maiden learned to love, and happily passed the summer. But Manasamitt, an inferior chief of the Raritans, who also loved the maiden and had long designed winning her for himself, grew jealous of the lovers, and determined to avenge his loss upon the favored suitor. An opportunity soon presented. Returning one evening from the hunt he discovered the lovers sitting, as was often their wont, upon the ledge of rocks, gazing upon the limpid waters far below. The maiden fled, and then, alone with his rival, he buried his hatchet in his brain and rolled the body down the precipice. Great was the grief of Chinqueka; she refused to be comforted, and sought the spot where last she and her lover sat together, and where he met his fate. There she fancied she heard him calling her to come to him; she plunged into the dark chasm and disappeared forever. When the king of the Manhatae heard of his son's tragic death at the hands of a Raritan brave, his rage was great. He resolved to wage war against that tribe until the spirit of his murdered son was appeased. "The warriors of the tribe were collected and sent forward to meet their foes, and then it was that the pleasant vales of the Raritan were made to echo continually with the war-whoop, and its waters were often dyed with the blood of those who had fallen in the fierce and deadly strife. From year to year the revenge of the bloody Manhatae was pursued, and all the fierce passion of their savage souls excited until they raged and burned. Many were slain on both sides, but no decisive victory gained; and when the white men came the feud was still continued, and gave occasion to the remark which we have quoted from the historian of those early days, that 'the Manhatae were the deadly enemies of the Raritans.'"

MILITARY.

The part taken by this township in the Revolution was a prominent one. The following documents explain themselves:

"Committee Chamber, Bridgewater, Feb. 24, 1776.

"Whereas, by the ordinances lately made by the Provincial Congress for regulating the Militia of New Jersey, it appears necessary that each Captain should have a District for the Company he commands, we the Committee, accordingly grant unto Capt. Jacob Ten Eyck, the command of all the men within the following boundaries or District: Beginning at the line of Hunterdon Co., on the river Allamatunck, thence down said river and also down the North Branch to the mouth of Chambers Brook, then up the said brook to the place where William McDonald's Mill formerly stood, then to the top of the mountain to Capt. Stile's line, then on a direct line down between Philip Van Narsdalen, and Chris. Van Narsdalen's, westerly of Wm. Black Halls, to the rear of Raritan River Lots, then along the rear of said River Lots to a line of William Lane's River Lot, then northerly and westerly, then down said branch to the line which divides the lands of Borgen Brokaw and Mr. Conovers, then along said line to Hunterdon Co. line, then along the same to the beginning.

TAX LISTS

INTRODUCTION

THE AMERICAN TAX LIST INDICIES

The AMERICAN TAX LIST INDICIES are designed to be as complete as possible, covering a ten year period (i.e. 1810-1819, 1820-1820) or several decades on a statewide basis. These indicies are created to assist the Archivists, Historians, Genealogists and the many hobbiests looking for their ancestors, name frequency, population movements and historical demography.

Every effort has been made to make this work as complete as possible. However, in a work of this nature, there are to be found some errors or omissions. If you have a correction or addition(s) to the indicies please write to Ronald Vern Jackson, President and Senior Archivist of Accelerated Indexing Systems, Inc., P.O. Box 2127, Salt Lake City, Utah, 84101.

The following quote from Abraham Lincoln is quite appropriate. President Lincoln said:

> "If I were to read, much less answer all the attacks made on me, this shop might as well be closed for any other business. I do the very best I know how-the very best I can, and I mean to keep doing so until the end. If the end brings me out all right, what is said against me won't amount to anything. If the end brings me out wrong, ten angels swearing I was right would make no difference."

We trust this will assist and guide the serious researcher to the geographical area(s) desired, saving you both time and money. Being able to pinpoint the exact county or even township will lead researchers to other records such as deeds, wills and possible Church or Vital Statistic records. It is possible to follow the direction of many generations of people and where they are located.

Should you know of any tax list(s) or population list of any type, please let us know by writing to the above address. Cooperation will lead to solving more problems faster rather than the old practice of "hoarding" of records.

NEW BRUNSWICK REFORMED (DUTCH) CHURCH MARRIAGE RECORDS, 1794-1799.

The Dutch settlers in the Raritan Valley established a Reformed Dutch Church at Three Mile Run, about 1700–1703. Out of this grew the New Brunswick church, erected about 1714, and other churches, ministered unto by the Rev. Theodorus Jacobus Frelinghuysen, 1720–1748; the Rev. Johannes Leydt, 1748–1783; the Rev. Jacob Rutsen Hardenbergh, pastor of the New Brunswick church, and President of Queen's (now Rutgers) College, 1786–1790; the Rev. Ira Condict, 1793–1811.

The records of the church begin in 1717, and include somewhat scanty minutes of the Consistory, quite full lists of communicants and Consistories, and register of baptisms, from 1717 to date. The only marriage register known to exist begins with 1794, and was kept by the Rev. Ira Condict.

REPORT

George Brown and Annabel Gordon who were banished from Scotland and transported to America aboard the 'Henry Francis' from Leith

---

SOURCES AND ABBREVIATIONS USED IN REPORTS

BMD.	From 1 January 1855 there have been statutory Registers of Births, Marriages and Deaths, registration in which is compulsory (and which are indexed.)
CS.	From 1841 there are decennial Census Schedules giving information about the members of every household. Up to 1891 these Census Schedules are open to public inspection, but as only larger towns are indexed (by Street), it is therefore necessary to know the address before consulting a city census. In the 1841 Census only limited information is given, i.e. whether or not the person was born in the county, and adult ages are generally approximate to within five years, i.e. 40 means 40–44 and 45 means 45–49 etc.
OPR.	Before 1855 there are the Old Parochial Registers of Baptisms, Marriages and Burials, which, though now in the custody of the Registrar General in Edinburgh, were compiled by local church authorities. They begin at various dates from the early nineteenth century to the late sixteenth, they were sometimes irregularly kept, they are seldom indexed and in general they relate only to adherents of the Church of Scotland, so that information about ancestors who were Roman Catholics, Episcopalians or members of one of the non-established Presbyterian Churches is not likely to be found there. In short, there is no guarantee that a search in those records will be fruitful.
Tests.	Some relationships can be traced in the Record of Testaments, some of which go back to the sixteenth century and which are indexed.
GRS & PRS.	Ancestors who had heritable property (lands or houses) can be traced in the General and Particular Registers of Sasines, which go back to 1617 and in some cases to 1599, but before 1781 less than half of them are indexed.
SH. RETOURS	The Services of Heirs, with indexes, carry us back to 1700, and for another hundred years and more before that there is the Inquisitionum Retornatarum Abbreviatio (Retours), giving succession of heirs, mainly among owners of heritable property

Search for baptism of George Brown 1654 to 1664

Only one relevant entry was noted in this ten year search of the old parochial registers of Dalkeith:

> "1654 June 20 Was Baptized George Broune (sic)
> parents Mr. David Broune and Christiane Mitchelsone
> Witnesses, Mr. Ritchat Broune Gutcher (grandfather), > Major Archibald Waddell and William Hamiltone."

OPR Dalkeith

There was no relevant entry in the coterminous parish of Newbattle.

Marriage of David Brown and Christiane Mitchelsone

> "1653 August 26. Mr. David Browne, writter in > Edinburgh and Christiane Mitchelsone both in > this parroch gave up their bands matrimoniall and > gave to the poor box and were mairied 6 of October."

OPR Dalkeith

Search for baptism of Annabel Gordon

There was no trace of this baptism in the old parochial registers of Dalkeith and Newbattle from 1656 to 1666.

Search in Justiciary Records

The High Court Minute Books and the Books of Adjournal were searched from April to December 1685, but there was no mention of George Brown and Annabel Gordon.

/Dobson's

Dobson's book on 'Directory of Scots Banished to the American Plantations' was then consulted for George Brown. It gave the following information:

> "George Brown Covenanter Prisoner at Glasgow, Dunnottar and Leith. Banished at Leith to East New Jersey 18 August 1685. Transported from Leith by George Scott of Pitlochie to East New Jersey August 1685."

and on Annabell Gordon:

> "Covenanter Prisoner at Dunnottar and Leith. Banished to the Plantations, at Leith 18 August 1685 Transported from Leith on the Henry and Francis, master Richard Hutton, by George Scott of Pitlochie to East New Jersey 5 September 1685."

His source for both was the Privy Council records.

Since George Brown was taken prisoner first at Glasgow, the microfiche index for the parish of Glasgow only was consulted for his and Annabel Gordon's baptism, but there was nothing relevant. Similarly, the microfiche of extant baptisms in Kincardineshire, where Dunnottar is situated, was also consulted for both baptisms, but with negative results.

The Mormon microfiche index of baptisms will eventually be available for all Scotland but, as yet, neither Edinburgh nor Lanarkshire, save for the parish of Glasgow, are on this index.

The search was concluded.

Description of the Brown Family Bible - It is 9 inches wide, 11½ inches long and 3 inches thick. It has a calf binding, the print is large and clear and there are many engravings protected with tissue paper. In the back it has a chronology of the Bible and a concordance. Except for the yellow pages and some wear on the binding it is in excellant condition.

The Brown Family Bible is now in the possession of Miss Leila M. Brown, 1305 N. Main Street, Rushville, Indiana-46173 and was given Miss Brown by her first cousin, once removed, Jenny Brown Ellenberger who was the daughter of George W. Brown.

In the obituary of William Brown (listed in the family Bible as William S. Brown, Jun.) it states that "he was born in Chester County, Penna. in 1816; moved to Darke County, Ohio in 1833; and thence to Fayette County, Indiana in 1858 where he remained and prospered until the day of his death." William Brown was the paternal grandfather of Miss Leila M. Brown.

11th century one Uchter, Earl of Northumberland, m Elgiva, dt of Ethelred 11, King of England. They or their desc settled in Scotland, and in fee simple or by marriaghethey became possesseddof four baronies or lordships within the Regality of Renfrew, riz: Ranfurly, Craigends and Griff Castle. One of the lords fixed his residence in the Barony of Knox, and surnames coming into use about that time, he was known thereafter as Adamus de Knox. The story of Wm Knox of Renfrew, who married Janet Somerville of the same locality, and their 3 sons emigrated to America.

Billie, I think the above blows the statement apart that Jannette was Annabel's dt what do you think/

I also found a statement about Newberry Port, Mass, that there was a Rev Richard Brpew, and he had asbrother George, is it possible this is the Richard in our NJ Brown's.

Gustavus Brown of Rich Hill, Charles Cty Md and Laird of Mainside ied and House Byers, Roxbury, Scotland. Born Dalkeith, Scotland, Apr 10, 1689. D/ Rich Hill Apr 1762. Will dated Dec 9, 1755, pro. Charles Cty, Md 5/12/1762. Married twice.

names of ch: Gustavus b 1712 etc Frances, Sarah, Mary, Christian, Gustavus, Elizabeth, Richard, Gustavus Richard, Cecelia, Ann.

Billie, what do you think about this, could Gustavus be our Geo's brother child.

Interesting isn't it,

Terry

"Uncle Jim"

2nd place prize winning essay in Historical Society Contest

["Uncle Jim", by Bryon Souder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Souder, of Russellville, Rt. 1, won second place in the annual essay contest sponsored by the Brown County Historical Society. Souder is an eighth grade student at Russellville in the Eastern School District.

"Can you imagine what it would be like to experience a century of history? James Baker Brown, more commonly called Uncle Jim, is my great-great-uncle. He is the oldest living resident and native of Brown County. On April 8th, 1980, in Mt. Orab Nursing Home, he celebrated his one hundred and fifth birthday with a party attended by family members. Thus, he fulfilled one goal in life, to live longer than his father, who lived one hundred years and eleven days.

"Henry Bascom Brown, who at one time in his life walked from Missouri to Logan's Gap in Ohio, married Drucillia Lanev on August 21, 1858. They settled in Huntington Township near Heitt's Chapel (which burned about five years ago). On April 8, 1875, their seventh child, Uncle Jim, was born. During his childhood, he grew to love the outdoors and spent many hours fishing in the sparkling, gently flowing waters of Eagle Creek. He hunted for squirrel, rabbit and other bountiful game in the beautiful wooded hills.

"Uncle Jim met and courted Eliza Belle Purdin, the daughter of store and it was a far piece back. So he married them right there. They all left their buggies and there on the ice in the middle of the creek, Uncle Jim and Aunt Lyde were married, in a unique ceremony that Uncle Jim still tells about to this day.

"Uncle Jim and his newly-acquired wife lived at Hickory Ridge. He was a farmer all his active life, raising corn and tobacco. He also made his own sorghum molasses. He cut the cane by hand, and ground it by the use of a horse and grinding wheel. He not only made it for himself, but he also sold it to his neighbors to bring in a little extra money when times were hard.

"Uncle Jim and Aunt Lyde had two children. A son, William Sherman Brown, who is now deceased, and a daughter, Bessie Brown Knoche, who now resides with her husband in Georgetown.

* * *

"Everyone has always like Uncle Jim. He is a kind, easy-going man with a wonderful sense of humor. As a young man he loved to play practical jokes on his friends. One story told about him concerns a pie supper. Pie suppers were held back in those days to raise money for the schools, and they were quite a social affair where the young man could meet a young lady.

The pies and cakes or box lunches were sold to the highest bidder, and then the young man would share the food with the young lady. Uncle Jim and his brothers slightly

Reds and sent him the picture and his congratulations for his one hundredth birthday.

"At one hundred and five years, Uncle Jim has lived to see many things that are now recorded in the pages of history. He is a dyed-in-the-wool Democrat, but over the years he has seen many men of both parties hold office. Since he was born in 1875, there have been twenty-one Presidents in office, from President Grant, who was in office when Uncle Jim was born, to President Carter.

"He lived through the era of the invention of the automobile (1913) and the airplane (1903) as well as the lunar walk (1969). He also lived through the Spanish - American War, the Great Depression, the Vietnam War, and all the wars and conflicts in between.

"Uncle Jim now resides at the Mt. Orab Nursing Home. Although his eyesight and hearing are failing, he's up early every morning, sitting on the couch and chewing his tobacco (a life-long habit).

"Great-great Uncle Jim never had to study history as I do - he lived it!"

Thorp – Brown

Children of Abner & Eunice (Brown) Thorp.

The following data was given me (Mrs. Schenck) by Mrs. Susan A. Wilkinson, 1312 Regent St. Bond Hill, Hamilton Co. O. She ~~was~~ & her sister Miss Emma Cooke were the daus. of Wm Edward Cooke, son of Jesse Cooke who married Ann Eliza Thorp, dau. of Daniel Thorp & Joanna (Davison) Thorp (dau. of Jos. Davison who lived on the Davison home stead near Freehold N.J. He & his wife Sally P. Keeler, were born in Scotland.) Daniel Thorp was the son of Abner Thorp & Eunice (Brown Thorp.

Abner Thorp b. Oct 7 - 1731 d. 1804. married Eunice Brown b. Nov. 15 - 1738 & died Aug 12 - 1801 their children were.

~~Ann in[illegible]~~ b.

Andrew b. Oct. 15 - 1758 mar. Susannah ? lived in Washington, Ky & Maysville Ky.

Benj. b. 1759 - mar & and had James and Hannah.

John b. May 13 - 1777 mar. ~~Nancy~~ Hannah Davison.

Geo. B. b. June 7 - 1772 mar. Nancy Davison.

Abner b. Aug 31 - 1779 mar ~~Sally Laird~~ - Sally Davison

Mary Lawrence lived in Mon. Co. N.J. till sev. of their chil. were born.

Daniel b. Apr 27 - 1764 - his death record says b. in N.Y. State"

My object at this moment is to discover the parents of Abner Thorp b. Oct 7. 1730 or 31
I have an aunt Annabelle (Thorp) Manlove 80 yo. ~~old~~ of St. Louis Mo.

Do you know when Eunice Brown was born?

David Thorp b. 1764 mar. "Sally Laird - Sally Davidson" the lady was son John by 1st mar. the latter mar. Catherine who is buried with him in Spring Grove Cemetery in Cinn. O. I have their burial permits Daniel B. Sr. (gr. f. of Mrs Wilkinson) b. Jan 24 - 1770 mar. Joanna Davidson (Davison) dau. of John & Sally (Keeler) Davison who lived near Freehold N. J. on the homestead where Joanna was born.

She Joanna mar. Daniel Thorp in 1790. & in 1808 they came to Ohio.

Hannah Thorp b. Nov. 21 - 1774 - d Brown Co. O ~~[illegible]~~ 1861 - the last of her family. She was the widow of Luther Reed and the mother of Luther Reed at whose home she died. She is buried in Georgetown, Brown Co. O.

Elizabeth Thorp b. July 11 - 1767 - married Joseph ~~Newman~~ Newman (they probably had Daniel Newman who mar. Ann Brown dau. of Neel Brown & sister of Sally) Brown Abbott w. of Silas Abbott.

Ezekiel Thorp b. Jan. 6. 1783 mar. Abigail Thorp b. 1785 and lived in Cinn. O. This Ezekiel I have kept a son of Abner & Eunice but the obituary of Abner Thorp b. 1779 who died in Cinn. 1861 says "Abner was one the last of seven brothers, four of whom came west at the beginning note (ask her what you want to know & I'll give it if I can.

or near the beginning of the pres. century" - Counting Ezekiel there would have been eight brothers. Perhaps Ezekiel was a cousin. Mrs. Lane (thot that there were some names not children of Abner & Eunice in her list.

I know that Andrew 1758, Abner 1759, David 1764, Daniel B. 1770 and Ezekiel all came west.

Eunice Thorp L. — ? married
Chas. Clemment.

Mrs Lane has not the name Eunice on her first bible list & doubts she was a daughter. She is given on Mrs. Wilkinson's list. She married Chas. Clemment.

(& Greer Brown married 1st Eunice Clemment - Could he have married this Eunice (Thorp) Clemment? (a wid.) The dau. of this Eunice & Chas would have been very young to have married Greer Brown.

Greer Brown had a son (I suppose) who lived in Cin. O. but was a Phil. girl. His name was Greer Brown Clugean.

(I have one better typed copies of the Thorp family & if I can find one I'll send it to you. I was trying to clear up this one & it is dreadful.

Both wives of Greer Brown died before he came to Ohio.

(1925) this date is Pettengi

(I think that these are all the names. I have sent the card — no — I see now that I have retained a copy of Andrew Brown's will as given in p44 — Vol II or III of N.J. Wills (N.J. Archives Series I.) "1759 - May 25 — Andrew Brown, Gloucester N.J. will of — w. — Sarah — Chil. — Joseph, Eunice Thorp, Green Brown, Wm Brown and George Brown, gr son Andrew Thorp.

(Since Andrew Thorp was b. 1758 — and his sisters — Anniple b 1754 & Sarah b. 1756 were older — I infer that they had died in infancy — they are neither one mentioned in a later list. So they are in my 1st list furnished me by Mrs. Edward Lane, 108 Oak Hill Ave. Delaware O. She is the wife of Edward Lane, a Pres. minister. Her mat. gr. father was Taber Chadwick Thorp son of ²Abner Thorp b. 1779 and his wife Mary (Laurence) Thorp. (Mary Laurence is said to belong to the Capt Jas. Laurence of the Chesapeake family whose father was John (Brown) Laurence (mayor of Burlington, N.J. & a loyalist & a distinguished atty & a brave man.) and ~~Lucy~~ whose mother was Eliz. Brown dau. of Doctor John Brown and his w. Eliz. — ² Brown (of Freehold? N.J.) She Eliz mar. Elisha Laurence gr-f of Capt Jas. Laurence. Do you know whether this Dr. John Brown was related to our Browns. Mrs. Lane is much interested in this Laurence Line. She knows more than many other members of the Thorp family about ancestry & can always tell me what is not true but she is not very active in helping me get what is true. However she is very nice and has given me a good deal. She is very bright. I think she feels that I have been slow in getting my information but I knew nothing to begin with as my own g.-father died before my mother was married & he was the only one of my Thorps to come to Indianapolis, where he died in 1835. He married here & continued to live here until his death.

But to revert to the will of Andrew Brown — the exs of the will is the son Joseph and wife Sarah & friend Geo. Brown — wit — Thomas Thorp & Thomas Brown & John Brown.

I had looked over N.J. Archives including the I vol. of N.J. Wills in our State Li. There I found an Anna pell Brown wid. swearing to the completeness of the inventory of her husbands estate in 1717. Her husband was Geo. Brown.

Lately I found that two more volumes of wills had been added vols II. & III. to the N.J. Archives (vols. 30 & 32) of the 1st series of N.J. Archives. To my joy I found perhaps a month ago — the will of Andrew Brown d. 1759 which gave a list of his children — at least some of them. (Do you know the maiden name of his wife — Sarah?) You will see that in this N.J. Archives will the children of Andrew Brown & w. Sarah are given as ~~son~~ Joseph, Eunice Thorp, Grace, Wm & Jane.

He closed his labors 1803, and the two Churches separated.

Could Chas. Demarest have been the son of Rev. John Demarest, my record omits in giving Greer Brown's children.

Children of Eunice (wife) were John C., James, Andrew, Ephraim and Israel.

Children of Greer Brown & Sally Harris his 2d wife were Anne M. married Harris personage ~~Silas Abbott~~

Letty married Silas Abbott. You will remember that Greer Brown came into Ohio with Joseph Abbott from Va. who went as a boy from N.J. to Va. with his parents.

Greer Brown is buried in Georgetown O. but nobody will tell me of him. I can't find a person who knows or will take the trouble to tell of this pioneer.

came into Ky. as early as 1783 — where his oldest son John C. Thorp was born in Ky." Where do you suppose ~~that~~ ~~Andw~~ Abner & Eunice were when her father Andrew Brown died? I think that Abner died in N.J. in 1804. Most of his sons came from there to O. A queer thing is this that in an obituary of Abner Thorp b. 1779 - d 1861 it says
"He was the last of 7 brothers 4 of whom came west near the beginning of the pres. century.
Now I know that Andrew 1758, Daniel b. 1770, David b. 1764 in N.Y. State", Abner 1779 and Ezekiel b. Jan. 6 1783 all came to West early.
I am wondering if Ezekiel could be a nephew of Abner & not his son — for that he would make eight brothers.
These Thorps and Browns intermarry until I am at my wits end.

Greer Brown (brother of Eunice B. Thorp) evidently came into Georgetown, Brown Co. O. from Va. with a Joseph Abbott b. 1739 in N.J. but went as a lad to Va. They Greer & Jos. Abbott were Rev.
Sol. in Va. Greer Brown (according to Wm E. Cockes list)
mar 1st Eunice ~~Dumont~~ Demarest. (2) "Sally Davis sister of Capt. Jefferson Davis & list of his children are given some of whom marry Thorps & some Abbotts.
Greer Brown is buried in Georgetown O. This 1st wife Eunice Demarest I believe to be ~~the~~ ~~his~~ the dau Chas of Eunice Thorp (dau of Abner & Eunice Thorp) who mar ~~Chas.~~
Demarest.

...d commissioner from Chas II. as Harbor master with original seal were taken by a man who claimed to be a relative by marriage named Schault (it looked like) who was to go to England & get this money for the heirs. He went with their wills etc & never returned himself nor the papers. I do not know who she Sophia Thorp Walking (or of Aaron) was but perhaps Mrs. McCue or Mrs Caball would know as her gr. mother ~~was~~ Eliz Thorp was a daughter of Peter & Jemima Turner & Cornelius Shake Thorp was a son of Peter.

I must have mis read Mrs Caballs letter. That her mother was named Marietta Eliz Honoré Denis. It must have been Davis. Perhaps this is the way my gr. father was a cousin of Capt Jefferson Davis as my mother said. & "Greer Brown married a sister of Capt. Jefferson Davis"

Wont you write to miss? Alice Abbott (George-town (Brownlee) O & ask her for what she knows of Greer Brown who was her ancestor. She might be interested to get into your book & you might sell it to a lot of Greers des. down there. I have got no answer to my letter with definite questions, which I wrote to Chas. Abbott of Georgetown had.

You might write to Prof. Jerry ~~Kehoe~~ Kehoe, Georgetown, Ind. He was the supt. of schools there & interested in pioneer biographies. I wrote him & he sent my letter to Chas. Brown but no answer has come to it either.

I will enclose if I can find it a part of a letter by Alice Abbott excuse scribbles on it. The Browns and Llandsons are married to Abbotts.

Most respectfully and Cordially —

Sunday Xmas 1955

Dear Billie:

Thank you for the lovely Christmas card. I rec'd the Founder book and I see that there is a Fitz Randolph in it - I wonder if it would be possible for you to correspond with Florence Whitehead about this Fitz Randolph family - we need a Sarah dt of a Joseph. I looked in my phone books but there is no Florence W. Maybe the Founders will send you the address of Florence W.

I phoned a man I know, who is a member of the Founders and ask him how I could read the applications of people and learn about the families - he is going to ask his cousin - hope it works.

Esther Burdge Capestro is related to our Brown's thru a marriage of my gt gt gr father's dt, Prudence who married a Newberry.

Barbara Carver Smith is also related to us, and she couldn't be less interested in our Brown's, since she is related thru Christian Brown dt of Geo & Annabel and it is not a male line for her.

I tried my darnest to find the woman that wrote out NJ Browns books, but could 'nt make any head way. One day a man in one of our cities phoned asking to buy my bk on NJ Browns, he probably knew something but I couldn't find anything out, he didn't believe that I was connect to the group.

on pg B/45517 1654 George Broune a witness was Ritchat Broune (grandfather)

I believe this to be a Richard. What do you think ?

At one time I wrote to the Brown's in Texas but they were of no relation, alto, I feel there is a slight connect with Md - I'll see if I can find my notes on this. Browns of NJ is not ours, I've studied them real good and the Stillwell Historical. Greer is not there.

Nicholas Brown and his brother Abraham are another group too. They have a lot of involvement here in Jersey.

I applied for the Thorp stone but haven't heard anything as yet, it will take time.

I almost dropped a pound when a women said at a historic meeting that she understood the Thorp was negro. I told her, if that was so, my father forgot to mention it.

My daughter in law is very low, she has me worried out of my skull. I am going away on this vacation to see my sisters and brother, Dec 26th to Jan 12, I want to go but hate to leave. She suffers a great deal of pain and is all bent over her bone structure is so bad, she is 46 yrs old, too young for all of this.

How is Linda ?

Enjoy a wonderful Christmas,

Terry

Dear Billie,

Here I am at last, our winter has been zero - and we are iced over, there perhaps is about 18" solid ice on the creek out front, this reflects into the house and its cold. Today, we have what is termed January thaw, not much will happen outside the fact it will be in the 50's for a day or two and then back to deep freeze. So, out goes the blankets in the washer and hung out of doors.

I've been bogged down with bookkeeping and in the middle of it all got the flu, outside of a cough, I am on the mend.

I rec'd a reply from the Library of Congress and the Andrew Brown that took the Oath of Allegiance to USA is not ours, for it took place in 1778. So no luck there. I h ave a couple of queries out on Brown but they are ¼ ly papers so it takes time for a reply, I just had one in the Brown Paper but h ad no replies. I have one coming up in the NJ Genealogical, pray for luck there.

I want to thank you for the photo copies, they have been a great help and I keep at it all the time. In separate mailing I am sending you the copies of Geo Brown's will and his inventory, also, Andrew's inventory and my Joseph's inventory, perhaps you can read something into them I cannot see.

It looks like boats and water began with my Joseph, b 1733, perhaps it was because he married a gal that lived on a creek stemming off the Navesink River. Altho, Thorp also lived on a branch of water that was not to deep but this water also was a branch that was from the Manasquan River where my grandfather William Brown built boats. Thorp's are buried on a small hill with the Matthews family, or should I say on the Matthews land. Matthews was originally spelled Mattias but due to the fact that this family had a boat named MATTHEWS they were veribally named this. Matthews transported salt hay, charcoal, etc on their boat and kept this boat down in the deeper water on the Manasquan toward the ocean, it very well could have been my g fathers place, where he built boats.

I am waiting to hear from the Daughters of Scotia, MO, about obtaining information from Scotland, also, waiting for a reply from the consulate of the ~~Great~~ Kingdom of Great Britian. Have you read the book, Mary Queen of Scots a paper back, I believe written by Frazer ? Mary's son James was born in Scotland and I think among the Gordon or Knox clan. Gordon's were catholic and Knox protestant - Knox (John Knox) - 1500's being the main pusher for protestants. I know this next statement will be far reaching but when I asked my Dad about our background, the only thing he would say was: he thought we were Scots because our legs were crooked and we walked funny. He also stated that some where in the family there was a castle, but I do not know if it is on the Brown side. I am sure my father knew a great deal more about his family than he ever spoke of, the only thing I knew when I started out ten years ago searching was that my great g father and wife were buried in a small grave yard in a little country town near the place where they all had this no account farm.

If by chance Mary Queen of Scots plays on you TV, take time out and look at it as many times as you can, it seems to hold information for us.

I have written to Stratford about obtaining the marriage certificates for Geo and Andrew.

I have also spoke to Woodbridge Presby and am purchasing two books on their church and also asked their historian about our Geo and Andrew, mailed out for this last Friday. I will send you one of these books. I had one but some how it is among the missing.

I was to this Woodbridge cemetery at one time but I was not awhere of the fact that I was looking for Geo and Andrew, so, when the weather becomes better, Iwill continue on to Woodbridge.

He was an ardent and devoted Whig and a personal friend of the Father of our Country. At the close of the War, he retired on his farm in Monmouth Cty where in the discharge of every parental and social duty and in the enjoyment of a lively faith in the mercies of his Divine Master he continued to dispense his benevolence until his pure spirit was summoned home on the 4th day of Dec 1812 in the 82nd yr of his age.

The above is all the burials at the Matthews cemetery.

1838 tax ratables there was John B. Thorp and Alexander R Thorp owning land at Howell, NJ or perhaps West Farms.

gone 1872

There was no e at the end of Thorp.

There were no Brown's in this Howell that would be part of our family.

I have requested Middlesex tax ratables and will rec them in a few days, I will send you any reading that may pertain to us.

I h ave hundreds of Virginia marriage notes but can not find any of our Brown's noted.

In papers of the Continental Congress

Greer Brown and George Rolund list the horse teams 1779 1804

Looking over the Rev papers of Ethel Mac Donald - Sarah Errickson Manasquan has died.

There are 3 Thorp's in the Monmouth Cty phone book, but none seem likely, when I have a minute I'll phone and see. I notice that Ethel married a Reginald Newbury, there were a lot of Newbury's around here and many involved with our Brown's in 1800 and involved with Pearce family, they mostly lived at Manasquan.

The boat HENRY & FRANCIS , if by error it was HENRY FRANCIS this would revert back to a gt g mother that married William Joel Brown, she was of England and my thoughts are that the boat HENRY & FRANCIS was from England and I found it was a 130' boat 20 gun.

I would like to ask if I understand the LDS notes, is ther a separate reading on film for the Old Tennent Presby, if so, it may be a good thing to look into.

No, for the life of me I cannot find my Joseph's burial place, I've tried everything, at least I think I have. Since this Joseph was a Baptist, do you think Greer was ?

I wonder if I should try in the famous Baptist church in Shrewsbury ? Demarist is a important name in north jersey, I think there is a Demarist Chapter DAR there somewhere.

Soon as I get these books from Woodbridge, it hopefully will say which of our Brown's are buried there.

As I said above, I am waiting for the Middlesex Cty tax ratables and if Somerset is not included, I will apply for those.

I hope you have luck with LDS records, they are not convenient for me to read, there is a place in East Brunswick but it is a chore to get there with the traffic. I will anxious to hear the out come.

As soon as I rec the book on Woodbridge I will send it with the photo copies on Geo & Andrw.

I will get to reading a Betty Brown micro that I have and send you notes on it, Ithink perhaps this is LDS.

Do you know Emily Demarist's father's name, may be DAR, was Emily of NJ.

Dear Billie,

I found Abner Thorp grave b 2/22/31 d 12/1/1812 - 81 yrs - I will have to travel over to Georgia Tavern Rd, Howell Twsp to see if Eunice is buried there. He was buried on the Capt Mathews farm. I phoned this family and was told that Capt Mathews was a Capt of the boat named Matthew which transported carcoal, lumber and salt hay, their farm was on a branch of the Manasquan River but it was doubtful if the water there may have been deep enough to float a boat and there was some talk of the fact that the boat MATTHEW went to Kettle Creek, Howell Twsp, Kettle Creek being a bit south of where I am. I know that my gt g father, William Joel Brown, bought property there in the 1830's from a Mr. Runyon but didn't keep it to long.

I am sending, today, for a copy of the records of the boat ENDEAVOUR that a Andrew Brown and John Nelson of Middlesex, NJ, sloop 1728 had on the water. Will let you know how I make out, it will probably take a month.

Do the Mormon records have any info on boats in the early years ?

Send some more questions, if I can figure them out they will help us all.

Margaret

Dear Billie,

Here I am again, hope to answer your questions. I will send you a photo copy of a couple of old maps I have in the NJ survey book. Would you send the info you have on the birth and christening in Woodbridge that you have for Joseph and his family or other members of our group. Some how I have missed the info on Rev Richard, let me know all you can on this. I was talking to a man that said we reverted back to Richard but I didn't believe him. I do have some info on a Richard in Long Island, NY. If we ever get concrete info on Geo and Richard, we can send for info to Scotland or where ever. I have tried hard to find more of our family and have not found them, they have to be around here some where. The NJ Brown's was written in Minneapolis, Minn., 1931, some body has to be in that direction. I found one group in state NY, but they are not saying much. West Farms is here in Howell Twsp, Monmouth Cty, as a hobby I am researching Howell Twsp since 1801 for the historical society. West Farms used to be Bargaintown a~~t~~ place at the head of the Manasquan River where my gt gt g father was building schooners in 1806. Send the dates on Eunice and husband it could have been the Johnson farm, I know there was a school there but have to search for the cemetery.

I have written to the archives at Washington for a copy of a Andrew~~s~~ and a Geo Brown that were in the R^{E}v, hope these men are ours, will let you know. It takes forever to get an answer. I am also trying for proof of marriage and some knowledge on the children of Joseph and Rachel, as far as I see it they only had two children and this is hard to believe. Like I said so many were lost at sea, it is possible this happened here. This statement, lost at sea, was a word of mouth thing that was passed down, altho, I am faced with the fact that most of my group on all sides of my father's family were at sea until there headed for the country. I am also searching for my families, Francis, Cottrell and Kilpatrick.

Our Brown's were always business people and could add figures like there was no tomorrow. Dad had a grocery store for 48 yrs and never had a adding machine, figured on a brown paper bag, and never a checking account. He carried a roll as big as your fist and didn't give a dam who saw it, he would stop every where and give some one money that looked like they needed a dollar or food. He was a tobacco chewing, woodsman witha business view,some how we became the almighty Brown's, never did any wrong, so one could notice. Grandfather,Charlie, was of the same mold, altho, he stayed on the farm berry picking, gunning, and chopping wood, he was a human bank, lending money with a payable interest. Stern men, never said much and would not carry on a conversation less you'd be talking about hound dogs or making apple jack. One day I saw a man offer g fathe a shot glass of apple jack, he pushed it aside and told them to bring on the wather glass full, thought it was a waste of time drinking such a small amount. I never saw any of these men drunk, but g fathers brothers didn't loose any time, one of them got killed, drunk, by the rr train, another lived at a traven, etc.

Early Friends Families of Upper Bucks, is Penn., it is where my mother's family is from, I can find that info, I've seen it some where. This is Quaker, mother's family name was Margerum, from England, came over with Wm Penn - other names Truax, Peck, Scalis - I know a lot of these families outside Scalis who married a Indian girl, Maria, things get lost there.

The Big Sandy Valley

by Jillson

The Great Invasion

About 1792, Vancouver's Station, which had been destroyed by the Indians in 1790, was re-established on the tongue of land between the Levisa and Tug forks of the Big Sandy.[8] A few years later this settlement was known as "Balchlutha," and is so designated on the early maps of the State.[9]

In 1789 the Leslies attempted to make a settlement at the mouth of Paint Creek on the Tug River, but were driven out by the vigilance of the Indians. They returned, however, in 1791; but instead of locating on Pond Creek, they crossed over on to Johns Creek, and formed what was later known as the Leslie Settlement. About this time came the Damrons, Harmans, Auxiers, Grahams, Browns, Marcums, Johns, Hammonds, Weddingtons, Morgans, Harrises, Pinsons, Walkers, Williamsons, Marrs, Mayos, Lackeys, Laynes, Prestons, Boarders and many others.[10] In 1793 the Big Sandy and adjacent regions of eastern Kentucky, while legally a part of Mason County, Kentucky, had already become known as District No. 1, Floyd County. The rapidity with which this section was being settled can be inferred from the fact that during the three years which had elapsed since the re-establishment of Harman Station in 1790 at least four hundred and thirty families and four hundred and forty-eight male whites above the age of twenty-one chargeable with tax were resident settlers in this section.

The following men were residents of Floyd County—essentially the Big Sandy region—in 1793.[11] Assuming three or four to a family, there were therefore not more than about 1,500 souls in the entire Valley at that time:

''AN OLD TIME MOUNTAIN HOME''

Two-story weatherboarded frame houses with porches upstairs and down typified the best architecture of the Big Sandy Valley from 1825 to 1850. Such homes were not only very comfortable but were surrounded by every good cheer.

THE LOWER SETTLEMENTS

While the settlements of the upper Big Sandy progressed through migrations from the New, the Clinch and Holston valleys, the continued hostility of the Shawnees in the Ohio Valley made it impossible for the settlers to gain a foothold in the lower part of the Big Sandy. In 1793, travelers passing down the Ohio to central Kentucky found no inhabitants at the mouth of the Big Sandy.[12] The town sites of Catlettsburg and Ashland were then a primeval wilderness, and gave no indication of the large settlement that was taking place in the upper part of the Big Sandy Valley. As late as 1796 and 1797 the banks of the Ohio from Pittsburgh to Maysville were almost uninhabited. It is said that at this time there were scarcely thirty families scattered along this great stretch of over 400 miles of inland waterway. Following conclusions of peace with the Indians in 1795, however, emigration became rapid, and by 1802 log cabins of the settlers were dotted all along the banks of the Ohio, and were frequently in sight of each other.[13]

Finally, though not until about 1807, the strategic position of Catlettsburg—at the mouth

Church in 1809 when it is noted that the Rev. Benjamin Edge is appointed to this district, with James Ward, who was a middle-aged man, presiding Elder. Cornelius McGuire, a local preacher, having preceded the Rev. Edge by a decade or more, was the first to introduce Methodism in the Big Sandy Valley. He came from Tazewell County, Virginia, with the first settlers prior to the beginning of the nineteenth century, and in company with seventy-five others settled on the Big Sandy River in that region which extends from where Pikeville now stands to the mouth of Johns Creek, a distance of thirty-five miles. The records show that the first Methodist Society was organized by Mr. McGuire at the house of Henry Stratton in 1796, and consisted of Cornelius McGuire and wife, William J. Mays and wife, Henry Stratton and wife, a number of the Laynes, Johns, Auxiers, and others.[1]

It was about the time of the War of 1812 that the Big Sandy Circuit was established in the Southern province of the Methodist Church. One of the first ordained preachers to ride this circuit was Rev. Marcus Lindsay, who was a divine of talent and culture. He made a lasting impression throughout the region. Following him, about 1834, the Rev. William B. Landrum took up his duties among the people of this rough and sparsely settled country. In these early days Bishop Hubbard H. Kavanaugh preached many times in the lower part of the Big Sandy Valley. Other local preachers were Rev. R. D. Callihan, Methodist, who lived in Ashland; the Rev. James Pelphrey, Baptist, Johnston County; and the Rev. Wallace Bailey, Baptist, Magoffin County. All were notable preachers during the first half of the nineteenth century. The Rev. John Borders, Benjamin P. Porter, Andrew Johnson, George W. Price, and Goodwin Lycans, all Baptists, began their noteworthy backwoods service toward the close of the period covered by this history. Besides these preachers who lived in or rode the Big Sandy Circuit, there were a number of others, notably Burwell and Stephen Spurlock, who lived on Twelvepole Creek in Virginia, and the Rev. Philip Strother, a native of Carter County, Kentucky, who frequently came into the Big Sandy district to hold their preachings.[2]

It is said that one of the most eccentric of the early Baptist preachers was the Rev. Henry Dixon, who was quite as good a fiddler as a preacher. It was no uncommon thing to see him with his fiddle under his arm on his way to church. The fact that he always opened and closed his services with his own music in a country where music of any kind was indeed scarce, made him unusually popular. The life of the preacher riding the Big Sandy Circuit in the early days was an exacting one. For his outfit he had a good horse, saddle, bridle, a comfortable suit of clothes and a warm overcoat. Usually he was equipped with a pair of saddle-bags, in one of which he carried such changes of clothing as he needed, and in the other a small Bible and hymn-book. He lived with the people to whom he ministered, and was one of them in every way. His journeys, always lonely and fatiguing, took him through wild and unsettled regions. He stayed wherever night or storm overtook him, and no cabin was too small or poor to show him welcome and hospitality.

Rev. Kavanaugh on Big Sandy

For many years the Little Sandy and Big Sandy Circuits were combined, and when the Rev. Kavanaugh, later Bishop Kavanaugh, first rode through this rugged and unsettled district, there were no established roads or other lines of communication. Nothing that could really be called a road existed between Lexington and Maysville or between the mouth of Big Sandy and the settlements farther up the river. Trails and bridle paths only were to be found along the streams and rivers. The Sandy Circuit was large. It extended from the mouth of the Big Sandy River south to the headwaters in Pike County, and covered all the territory which is now included in Greenup, Lawrence, Boyd, Carter, Elliott, Morgan, Johnson, Martin, Floyd, Knott, and Pike counties. There were twenty-four preaching places, and each place had to be filled at least every four weeks. The work was divided between Bishop Kavanaugh and the Rev. Luke P. Allen, who was the senior preacher of the region.

It is interesting to note that no preacher of this early period considered his equipment complete without a small marking iron. This tool consisted of a sharp pointed iron rod about six inches long, and was used to mark a tree, generally a beech, at the fork of the road, so that there would be no difficulty in finding the route thereafter. This method of tree marking was in the nature of blazing, except that it was not done with a hatchet. It is amusing to learn that in many instances these godly men, preoccupied with their thoughts, either forgot to do their marking and so became lost, or marked their trees incorrectly, and thereby frequently

CHAPTER VI

SOCIAL AND ECONOMIC EXPANSION

(1800 to 1850)

There is perhaps no other region in Kentucky which was as rapidly settled and as soon divided into county units for local self-government as the Big Sandy Valley. The reason for this is seen in the fact that the territory was from a topographic standpoint a veritable cul-de-sac which was easily held by the Indians long after they ceased to exercise control over adjacent regions. Years before the white man could enter the Big Sandy with security, the Bluegrass region to the west and southwest, as well as the mountainous districts to the east, were fairly developed. General Anthony Wayne's decisive stroke at Fallen Timbers in 1795, however, left the Indians broken and humiliated and caused them to withdraw permanently from the Big Sandy Valley, thereby throwing open for immediate settlement the last territory in which large tracts of excellent land close to the east could be procured for the taking.

The Boundary of Floyd County

At the date of its formation, in 1799, Floyd County[1] comprised the whole Big Sandy Valley and some adjacent area. It was the fortieth county created in Kentucky, and was named after Colonel John Floyd, the daring Indian fighter and surveyor.[2]

The boundary lines of Floyd County when first established were vague and uncertain both on paper and in the field. The eastern and southeastern limits coincided with that of Kentucky and Virginia, and hence involved questions which were greatly in dispute between the two States. These lines had never been surveyed with accuracy. Kentucky County, from which the State took its boundary, was considered to have the same territorial limitations as had been ascribed to western Virginia prior to the separation. The new State was generally regarded as lying west of the crest of the Cumberland Mountains and the Big Sandy River, but the exact location of the dividing ridges was unknown.

To eliminate border arguments which naturally grew out of this territorial uncertainty, the Kentucky Legislature in 1795 passed an act authorizing the Governor to take up the matter with the Governor of Virginia. This was done, and in due course each State appointed three commissioners clothed with authority to interpret the existing laws by settling the growing controversy by definitely locating the line. Difficulties of a large nature arose in the course of the deliberations of the joint commission which served to delay the final decision for several years.

At last a joint meeting was held at the forks of the Big Sandy in October, 1799.[3] There is an interesting tradition concerning the manner in which the Tug Fork was selected, thereby giving to Kentucky the greater part of the territory drained by the Levisa Fork and a part of that drained by the Tug Fork. It is said that the commissioners arrived at the point where Louisa now stands late in the day. Autumnal rains had been falling in the valley and both forks of the Big Sandy were rising. During the course of the evening it was decided that the boundary line should follow the largest fork of the Big Sandy. Throughout the night the Tug Fork rose steadily and in the morning it appeared to be a much larger stream than the Levisa Fork. The commissioners who were no doubt in a much better position to pass on the genial hospitality and appetizing refreshments

MAP OF THE BIG SANDY VALLEY

The overland pioneers came up the Bluestone trail, and crossing over the divide, passed down the Tug, the Dry or Levisa Forks. Many went in over the Pound Gap from the Clinch River trails. Others came by boat down the Ohio and up the Sandy River to the neighborhood of Louisa.

of the pioneers of the valley, than they were on the size of the competing water sheds, decided that the Kentucky-Virginia boundary should lie in the waters of the Tug Fork.

What delightful conviviality followed this august determination is an open speculation, but it is known that the commissioners departed before the slow rising tide of the Levisa River reached the forks, and all too plainly told which was the largest fork of the Big Sandy River. Widespread good humor resulted when it was learned that the smaller of the two—the Tug Fork—was chosen as the Virginia boundary. Mountain land was the cheapest and most easily secured of all things at that time, and it was not until years afterward, when a part of Lawrence, all of Martin and the greater portions of Johnson, Floyd, and Pike counties were carved out of the territory so fortunately gained for Kentucky, that the real importance of the boundary decision became apparent. Had the decision been otherwise, the train of subsequent events must needs have been much altered and with it this history, for the greater part of the Big Sandy Valley would have remained a part of Virginia.

Division of Floyd County

This vast territory was later broken up into several counties, the largest of which is Pike, formed in 1821 out of part of Floyd and named for General Zebulon Pike.[4] Piketon at the juncture of the Levisa and Russell forks of the Big Sandy was the first county seat. Tradition has it that one of the early Pike county courts was also held in a private dwelling at the mouth of Shelby Creek. The earliest Pike County record (App. F.) says that the first court was held at the house of Spencer Adkins on Monday, March 4, 1822. Simeon Justice, James Roberts, Reuben Retherford, John Hunt and John Bevins were constituted the first justices of Pike County under appointment and seal of Governor John Adair. These locations were abandoned in 1825 and the present town of Pikeville was made the county seat.

Lawrence County[5] was erected out of parts of Greenup and Floyd in 1821, the sixty-ninth in order of formation. Louisa was made the county seat. It was at this little town at the forks of the Big Sandy that the westward currents of immigration from the north and the south met. The New England and Pennsylvanian pioneers came down the Ohio and up the Big Sandy, the Virginian and Carolinian settlers came over the mountains and down the Big Sandy. Louisa soon reflected a composite culture which was to stimulate its growth and last for many a generation. Lawrence County was named after Captain James Lawrence of the United States Navy, who in 1803 took such an important part in our Mediterranean engagements with the Tripoli pirates. As originally created, the county embraced what is now Lawrence County and certain other adjacent territories which later became parts of Boyd, Carter, Elliott, Morgan, Johnson, and Martin counties. The act designated as commissioners to select the site of a ''permanent seat of justice'' for the new county, John Rice, James Ward, Jr., Henry B. Mayo, Samuel May and David K. Harris. These commissioners having chosen the lands at the forks of the Big Sandy, where Louisa now stands, the Kentucky General Assembly established Louisa as the official county seat by an act effective December 11, 1922. The first trustees were Samuel Bell, Andrew Johnson, Isaac Bolt, Nimrod Canterberry, Andrew Chapman, Joseph R. Ward and Elisha Welmond.[6]

In 1843 Johnson County was formed with its county seat at Paintsville, which had been an old trading-post called Paint Lick Station. It was the ninety-seventh county organized in Kentucky and was named in honor of Col. Richard M. Johnson. Parts of Floyd, Lawrence, and Morgan counties were assembled to produce Johnson County, which embraces within its territory the old Shawnee Village on Mudlick Creek. Many interesting Indian traditions cling to this part of the Big Sandy Valley. The earliest county record obtainable at Paintsville says: "At a Court held for the County of Johnson at the court house in the Town of Paintsville on the 3d day of June 1844, Present—Shadrick Preston, Elcana Howes, Constantine Conley, John Stafford and Frances A. Brown."

Boyd County was formed in 1860 out of parts of Greenup, Carter and Lawrence, with Catlettsburg as the county seat. It was the one hundred and seventh county and was named for former Lieutenant Governor Linn Boyd. Ten years later, in 1870, Martin County was organized from parts of Johnson, Pike and Floyd. It was named for Colonel John P. Martin, a distinguished and cultured gentleman of Prestonsburg. The county seat of Martin was originally known as Eden, but was later changed to Inez.

Previous to 1779 the lower Big Sandy Valley had been a part of Mason County, which, having been formed in 1788,[7] was the easternmost part of the State when Kentucky was admitted into the Union in 1792.[8] At an earlier date this region was a part of Fincastle County, and later Kentucky County, Virginia. The latter county, destined soon to become the fifteenth State in the Union, was separated from Fincastle County by legislative action in December, 1776.

In Virginia, Buchanan, Dickenson and the northeastern portion of Wise counties constitute the headwaters of the Levisa, Russell and Pound forks of the Big Sandy River. In West Virginia, all of McDowell and the western parts of Mingo and Wayne counties are included within the Tug Fork basin. The first Mingo County Court was organized February 7, 1895, at Williamson, which was selected as the county seat. J. K. Anderson, James L. Deskins, and Alex Stafford were the Commissioners. Buchanan County, Virginia, was formed from parts of Tazewell and Russell counties, Virginia, in 1858. The county seat, Grundy, has always been located at the junction of Slate Creek and the Levisa Fork of the Big Sandy. A courthouse fire during the year 1885 destroyed all the early records of Buchanan County. Dickenson County, Virginia, was erected from parts of Russell, Wise, and Buchanan counties, Virginia, in 1880. Its county seat is Clintwood on the Pound River.

Wise County, Virginia, was established in 1856, being made up of parts of Russell, Scott, and Lee counties. Its county seat is the town of Wise, situated on the divide between the Cranes' Nest River, a fork of the Pound River, and the Clinch River. Wise County, Virginia, records of Monday, July 28, 1856, show that there were present at the formation of the first court, William Richmond, William Roberson, William H. Dean, Nicholas Horne, Jessee Davis, Joseph Eastep, James Buckhanan, Isaac Willis, S. H. Senter, George H. Gray, Jeremiah Powers, Hiram Riggs, James Holbrook, James H. McCoy, Martin Kibern, John Creech, Daniel Short, John H. Vanover, Wm. Vanover, Charles E. Bond. Each of these men was formally commissioned a justice of the peace. On ballot, William Richmond was elected Presiding Justice of the first Wise County Court.

Wayne County, West Virginia, which includes a small portion of the lower part of the Big Sandy Valley adjoining the Ohio River, was formed from Cabell County in 1842 while metal. Over a century has passed, and the exact location of these far-famed Swift mines is still unknown and shrouded in mystery.

''WHIP SAWING'' TIMBER

All of the lumber used in the first ''frame'' houses of the Big Sandy region was produced by ''whip saw'' methods. It took real men to produce lumber after this fashion. Had it not been for the fact that labor was relatively cheap it would have been quite impractical.

THE PIONEER AND HIS TIMES

In the year 1793 Edward Dobyns, Tax Commissioner of District No. 1 (Floyd County, then comprising the entire Big Sandy Valley and some adjacent territory) of Mason County, wrote just above his signature on the tax list:[18] "Coach and chariot wheels, other carriages with four wheels, carriages with two wheels, billiard tables and ferries, there is no such species of property within my district." Casually written in the probable fulfillment of his duties, this statement throws much light on the methods of transportation of the day. All journeys were made on horseback, a custom developed by necessity, which is still much in use in this region. As late as 1802 Judge John Graham brought from Mt. Sterling, Kentucky, on the backs of mules all of the wrought iron nails and window glass used in building his new home just below the mouth of Beaver Creek in the Big Sandy bottoms near the present village of Emma. This house was the first fine frame dwelling in the Big Sandy. It was a story and a half high and had seven rooms. Five years were required for its construction.

While the new home was being built, Judge Graham lived with his family nearby in a low log house close to the bank of the river. Here he opened the first store or trading post of the region in 1800. He prospered and in 1815 began a general banking business. Loans ranging from $10.00 to $1,000.00 in American money were made from his personal funds. The notes always fell due on Christmas or New Year's day. Judge Graham was very precise in keeping his store and banking records. From his old home-made calf-bound account book, still existent and in the hands of his descendants in Prestonsburg,[11] are given below the names of most of the pioneers of that part of the Levisa River. The period covered is from 1800 to 1820, and the original spelling of the names has been retained.

Note—The following is an accurate copy of the official record relative to the location of the city of Prestonsburg. A photograph of this record is shown opposite page 150. As indicated below, this is a copy of the first record, which was lost when the first Floyd County Courthouse burned. The original spelling and punctuation have been retained. This survey was made originally on May 3, 1797, while the Big Sandy Valley was a part of Mason County. John Graham was at this time a Deputy Surveyor of Mason County, living near Prestons Station, which later became Prestonsburg:

SPENCER, Joseph. 1714–1789. Cont'l general. Conn. Sixty years old when the Revolution started, a militia officer since 1747 and a veteran of the last two Colonial wars, Joseph Spencer was a B.G. of Conn. troops at the start of the BOSTON SIEGE. When Congress ignored his Conn. militia seniority to make him a B.G. on 20 June '75 while appointing Putnam Maj. Gen., the old gentleman simply went home—A.W.O.L. Although some disapproved of this conduct, Spencer had enjoyed an official position in the community throughout his adult life (D.A.B.) and the provincial authorities appointed two men to jolly him back into ranks, so to speak. His pride thus salved, he returned to his troops on 18 July, served throughout the rest of the siege, and then went south with the army to N.Y. On 9 Aug. '76 he was promoted to Maj. Gen. The next month he voted with Geo. Clinton and Heath to defend N.Y.C., and he is the first of the triumvirate that Alexander McDougall described years later as "a fool, a knave and an honest, obstinate man." (Freeman, Washington, IV, 188 n.) In Dec. he was ordered to New England and established his headquarters at Providence. In Sept. '77 he organized an amphibious attack from Tiverton against Rhode Island (Island), but canceled the operation, after the troops had loaded into boats, when he learned that the plan had been compromised. (Lossing, II, 80) Indignant about a proposed inquiry by Congress into the cause of this failure, Spencer requested a court of inquiry and was exonerated. "No particular regret was recorded when Joseph Spencer resigned the Rhode Island command and his commission as Major General [on 13 Jan. '78]," writes Freeman. (Op. cit., 613) This same authority comments that neither William Heath nor Spencer "had done anything more than discharge routine duties without displaying such scandalous incompetence or sloth as to make their removal a public necessity. Not one flash of shining leadership had come from either of them." (Ibid., 367)

Spencer was immediately appointed to the council of safety and in 1779 was elected to Congress.

SPENCER'S REGT., commanded by Col. Oliver Spencer, was one of the 16 "ADDITIONAL CONT'L. REGTS."

SPENCER'S TAVERN, Va., 26 June '81. (VA. MIL. OPNS.) When reinforcements joined Lafayette, Cornwallis retreated slowly through Richmond to Williamsburg, and Lafayette followed at a respectable distance. Simcoe left on 23 June with his Rangers and some jägers to destroy rebel stores on the Chickahominy. Lafayette detached Col. Richard Butler with his Pa. Regt., Majs. Call and Willis with a body of Va. riflemen, and Maj. Wm. McPherson with 120 mounted troops to intercept Simcoe on his return. After an all-night march they surprised Simcoe at Spencer's Tavern (or Ordinary), six miles N.W. of Williamsburg. At sunrise McPherson had mounted 50 light infantry double with 50 of his dragoons to speed up the pursuit, and this detachment closed in for a brief hand-to-hand action while the main bodies came forward. Simcoe's Rangers drove McPherson back, but Call and Willis came up and were hotly engaged with Simcoe's infantry when his dragoons hit their flank and pushed them back on Butler's Pa. Cont'ls. Simcoe had the advantage in the confused fighting that followed, but fearing that Lafayette's entire army might be at hand, he took the first opportunity to break off the action and fall back to Williamsburg. Since Cornwallis was moving forward with a strong reinforcement, Butler was equally anxious to see this skirmish end.

The Americans lost nine killed, 14 wounded, and 14 missing. Cornwallis reported 33 casualties; this figure is accepted by historians, although Lafayette thought the enemy lost 60 killed and 100 wounded. "Neither party could fairly claim a victory, though both parties did," says Lossing (II, 465). Simcoe describes the action in detail and claims it was a sizable engagement won by his generalship (Johnston, Yorktown, 56 n.), yet he left the field and his wounded in the hands of the enemy.

SPRINGFIELD, N.J., RAID of Knyphausen, 7–23 June '80. Prior to the return of Clinton from his Charleston Expedition, Knyphausen (who was temporarily in command in N.Y.) received reports that Washington's army was mutinous and might be won over. (Van Doren, Secret History, 270) Being led to believe also that the civil population might rally to support him, Knyphausen organized a force of 5,000 for a large-scale raid, landed them at De Hart's Point, near Elizabethtown, and on 7 June marched toward Morristown. Washington received this disturbing information the evening of the 7th, but when he reached the Short Hills the next day he learned that Col. Dayton's regiment of Maxwell's Brig., promptly reinforced by neighborhood militia, had so successfully blocked the enemy advance that they had gotten only as far as Springfield Bridge and had then pulled back and started entrenching: Knyphausen's position the afternoon of 7 June was on high ground N.W. of Connecticut Farms (now Union, N.J.), a settlement about two and a half miles S.E. of Springfield. (Baurmeister, Journals, 352–55; Freeman, Washington, V, 169–74; Ward, W.O.R., 621–23)

British intelligence had obviously erred badly: the natives not only were hostile but efficient. Gen. Stirling, who commanded Knyphausen's vanguard, was wounded. "At Connecticut Farms," says Baurmeister, "the Jägers met with unaccustomed resistance, the rebels holding off our vanguard with fixed bayonets." (Op. cit.) The invaders burned about 30 buildings in Conn. Farms and, to the mystification of Washington, withdrew during the night of 8–9 June to De Hart's Point and dug in. It was a peculiar situation: Knyphausen had withdrawn simply because his original mission, based on faulty intelligence, obviously could not be accomplished; Washington, on the other hand, had no way of knowing that the explanation for the enemy's peculiar conduct was this simple—he suspected they were up to something logical, such as feinting in N.J. before making a main effort up the Hudson. "'Our situation,' said Washington on the 14th, 'is as embarrassing as you can imagine,' and then he had to add: 'When they unite their force, it will be infinitely more so.'" (Freeman, op. cit.) He recalled Harry Lee's Light Horse (which had received orders on 30 Mar. to prepare to move to S.C. [ibid., 155 n., 170]), sent for other mounted troops to perform the reconnaissance missions that were now so important, and he organized a force of 500 men under Brig. Gen. Edward Hand to harass the enemy position at De Hart's Point.

When Washington learned on 20 June that six British warships had sailed up the Hudson to Verplancks Point and, "with as little apparent reason for going as for coming, had dropped down the river again" (ibid.), he had to redeploy his forces so as to meet an attack against West Point and also to watch for a main effort in N.J. So he moved his main body to Pompton, where it would be closer to West Point yet still within 16 miles of Springfield, and he left Nathanael Greene at the latter place with about 1,000 Cont'l. troops to watch Knyphausen. Militia forces of Gens. Maxwell and Philemon Dickinson were still in the field to support Greene.

Clinton had reached Sandy Hook on 17 June. Learning then of Knyphausen's operation and its lack of success, he also received information from Benedict Arnold (dated 12 June) that the French expeditionary force of Rochambeau would soon reach Newport. The British commander realized that by committing troops to support Knyphausen's stalled offensive against Washington he would leave N.Y.C. open to a possible French attack. The mysterious British movement up the Hudson (see above) had been prompted by Clinton's fear that Washington might try to cross the river and join forces with the French, a movement Washington actually did not make until 31 July. (The French did not actually reach Newport until 12 July, and Clinton did not get word of their arrival until the 18th.)

Meanwhile Clinton prepared to advance into Westchester co., and Knyphausen had built a ponton bridge between Elizabethtown and Staten Island for a rapid junction with the main army when the British learned of Washington's movement toward West Point. Clinton and Knyphausen therefore organized a feint against Springfield and a stronger effort against Morristown on 23 June. Although one reason might have been to save face (C. & M., 728), Knyphausen's new thrust was ordered by Clinton to retard Washington's suspected movement of his entire army up the Hudson and to gain time for the troops just returning from Charleston to be transported up the Hudson to block Washington. (Clinton, Amer. Reb., 193)

At 6 A.M. on 23 June Washington heard the sound of cannon on Greene's front, and in midmorning he received an alarming report from Greene: "The enemy are out on their march towards this place [Springfield] in full force, having received a considerable reenforcement last night." (Quoted in Freeman, op. cit.) According to Baurmeister, Knyphausen's original expedition had consisted of the British Guards, the 22d, 37th, 38th, 43d, and 57th Regts., two battalions of Cortland Skinner's West Jersey Vols., two Anspach regiments, the entire Anspach and Hessian Jäger Corps, the 17th Lt. Dragoons, von Diemar's Hussars, the mounted Queen's Rangers (Simcoe's), the Leib Regt., and the Landgraf, Donop, Bünau, and Bose Regts. Brigades were commanded by Gens. von Lossberg, von Hachenberg, Mathew, Skinner, and Thos. Stirling. James Robertson, Commandant of N.Y., and Gov. Tryon accompanied Knyphausen as volunteers. The reinforcements mentioned by Greene were the 42d Regt. and the rest of Simcoe's Rangers; the Leib Regt. and Jäger Corps returned to Staten Island to resupply their ammunition after the action of 7 June and, presumably, returned to N.J.

The enemy's second advance on Springfield was again contested by Maxwell's Brig. Greene positioned his regulars and Dickinson's militia to cover the bridge at Springfield, and Lee's dragoons operated with Maxwell's delaying force. On approaching Springfield, Knyphausen sent half his force to envelop Greene's left by way of the Vauxhall Bridge and to get to his rear at Chatham. Lee's dragoons and Dayton's 3d N.J. delayed the enveloping column under Gen. Mathew at Vauxhall Bridge and then dropped back to hold another position on the Vauxhall Road to protect Greene's left. Knyphausen's frontal attack was held up for 40 minutes by Col. Israel Angell's R.I. Regt., which then dropped back to a new position with Col. Wm. Shreve's N.J. militia. Greene reinforced Lee with two regiments of regulars (Col. Henry Jackson's Mass., and Col. S. B. Webb's Conn.) to block Mathew and concentrated the rest of his command on high ground behind Springfield. Knyphausen was reluctant to attack Greene and broke off the action. After burning all but four of the 50 houses in Springfield he withdrew during the afternoon and crossed his bridge to Staten Island. Washington had had no alternative but to start back from Pompton to support Greene and to order supplies evacuated from Morristown, but he covered only five or six miles on 23 June and that night received the good news that Greene would not need his help after all. (Freeman, op. cit., 173)

N.J. had once more been cleared of British troops, and the N.Y. Loyalists were "bitter with complaints of what seemed to them Clinton's incomprehensible lack of enterprise." (Van Doren, op. cit., 270–71) Jerseyites, far from being swayed back toward King George, were aroused by the destruction of Connecticut Farms and Springfield. They were particularly outraged by the senseless killing of Rev. James Caldwell's wife in the former place on 7 June: she had been sitting with her children when hit by a bullet fired through her window by an enemy soldier. Van Doren comments that "Arnold, betraying Washington's secret to the British, unintentionally helped save Washington from further operations in New Jersey." (Op. cit., 271)

NUMBERS AND LOSSES

Patriot losses on 7 June were about 15 killed and 40 wounded, according to Col. Sylvanus Seeley of the N.J. militia. (Diary quoted in C. & M., 728) Baurmeister estimates that the 800 men under Gen. Maxwell in Elizabethtown had been reinforced by militia and regulars to a total of 2,500 by the time they withdrew to Springfield Bridge. (Op. cit.) Thacher says the rebels took 20 prisoners in this first action, but enemy killed and wounded are not reported by either side. (Journal, 198)

On 23 June the rebels lost 15 killed, 49 wounded, and nine missing. (Freeman, op. cit., 174 n. This may, however, be the total casualties for the period 7–23 June, since it bears a strange similarity to the figures already quoted for the 7th, and Ward says American losses for the entire period were 13 killed, 61 wounded, and nine missing. Seeley, however, is specific in saying that 15 were killed and 40 wounded on 7 June.) Knyphausen's losses on the 23d are not known; Thacher says his brigade found 15 bodies, several fresh graves, and that the inhabitants reported seeing eight or 10 wagon loads of dead and wounded. Enemy strength on the 23d was between 5,000 and 6,000. Greene had about 1,000 at Springfield, and Maxwell may have had almost that many militia harassing the enemy's advance.

Bishop Family

John Bishop was one of the original Associates. He was from Newbury, Massachusetts where by his wife Rebecca, daughter of Richard Kent, he had a son Noah born June 20, 1658. He received a grant of 470 acres.

There are four interments in the Bishop plot. [7]

Bloomfield Family

The name was originally French, coming to England from Caen, Normandy, and perchance is to be associated with William the Conqueror in 1066.

Thomas Bloomfield was a major in Cromwell's army. Upon the restoration of Charles II to the British throne he, Thomas, emigrated from Woodbridge [8], Suffolk County, England, with five children, Ezekiel, John, Thomas, Nathaniel, and Mary. They first settled in Newbury, Massachusetts. They then removed to Woodbridge, New Jersey in 1665. Thomas, Sr. received a grant of 326 acres; Thomas, Jr., 92 acres, and John, 90 acres. [9] The elder Bloomfield was a carpenter by trade. He and his son, Thomas, became Freeholders in 1670. A grandson, John, was a captain in Col. Drayton's 3rd Continental Regiment in 1776. The marriages of several of Thomas Sr.'s children are given in the Woodbridge records, but in some cases both the names and dates are partially obliterated. This is the case with Ezekiel, but it is quite certain that his wife was Hope, daughter of Edward Fitz Randolph of Barnstable, Massachusetts, and that they were married at Woodbridge, December 22, 1680.

Numbered among the members of this illustrious family was Joseph Bloomfield who served as governor of New Jersey from 1801 to 1802, and again from 1803 to 1812. He was the grandson of Ezekiel. D Moses Bloomfield, another member of this family, was a well-lov physician in the town whose monument in our cemetery bears t following inscription: "In memory of Dr. Moses Bloomfield, forty ye physician and surgeon in this town; senior physician and surgeon the Hospitals of the United States; Representative in the Provincial Co gress and General Assembly; an upright magistrate Elder of the Pr byterian Church. Timothy 1:12, 'I know whom I have believed'"

In various plots there is a total of forty Bloomfield intermen

Brown Family

Research showed that a George Brown came to Woodbridge to Scotland in 1685 in the good ship "Henry and Frances." He was banished from Scotland for refusal to take the Oath of Abjuration. Aug 17, 1685. There is a total of at least 124 interments with the name Brown in numerous plots in our cemetery, the oldest bearing the date 1713, including the above named George Brown, his wife Annabe son James and daughter-in-law, Agnes.

Clarkson Family

James Clarkson, Sr. was a First Settler at Woodbridge. [10] came with the Scots contingent in 1684-1685 directly from Scotla It is believed that the family came from the town of Lithgow, Scotla He lived only two or three years after arriving here. On October 1687, letters of administration on the estate of James Clarkson, were granted to his son James, a yeoman of Woodbridge. Follo his death, the widow of James Sr. returned to Scotland to live with son John.

There are twenty-eight interments in the Clarkson plots; the ol is dated 1715. [11]

Compton Family

Compton is an old family name going back to William the C queror in 1066. There is no record of anyone by this name inte in our cemetery. However, William Compton, whose daughter M was the first child born in Woodbridge in 1668, is probably the Wil Compton of Ipswich, Massachusetts. He purchased land there in but soon thereafter reportedly came to Woodbridge where he wa pioneer settler and received a grant of 174 acres. His grant must been a wooded area since the records say that he was the first ma this area to cut down timber.

Dear Billie:

I arrived home from our vacation to Florida, had a great time seeing my sisters and brothers. You see, each year we meet somewhere and talk for a week solid. We tent, altho, this year I took my son and his wife plus two daughters and rented a Minnie Winnie camper for Roberta, my daughter in law has had a breast removal and is on chemo and does not feel well attimes. There was seven in my group for I took a couple more of my grand daughters. I try to include as many as I can so we do not loose touch. I have one sister, Helen Thomas, in Fla, one Frances Clark, Oregon, one brother Harrison, Georgia and a brother across the street here, Elston (Pete) the smallest of our group. They are all married, having 3 to 5 children each. I had three sons, my husband passed on sixteen y ears ago. I have continued on as Sec't - treasurer of our business and will probably work 'til 90. One son works here (Nils), one son lives on the Eastern Shore (Virginia) (Karson & Roberta) and is here every other week at work and my other son lives two doors down and is handicapped due to a motor bike accident (Eric).

Eric got hit by a car and broke every bone in his body, he is up and about, married and has three children. I h ave 10 grandchildren and two gt grand children. I am 66 years of age.

So much for me - I was pleased to get your letters but have not found time as yet to go to Trenton, if you should hear from them please let me k now.

Yes, our Brown's have always been involved in navigation of some sort. My Joseph, son of Andrew, married Rachel Johnson Markcleas (Maclise) and lived on Maclise Creek, Middletown, Monmouth Cty, N.J. Andrew, the father, also was a Captain, I do not know about Geo. Andrew's father. You tell me you have genealogy on Johnson, does this included my Rachel Johnson wife of Joseph Brown? I think our Brown's were farmers that lived on land that was situated on a body of water. There was a Brown's Dock on Brown's Dock Road, Navesink, Monmouth Cty, N.J. that were our people and I think perhaps connected to our Andrew. This dock was a place where boats stopped to pick up produce for New York City. My line up of Brown's are: George, Andrew, Joseph, William, William Joel, Charles, and my Dad Joseph Harrison (Harry) Brown. George and Andrew were perhaps in Middlesex Cty, N.J., Joseph, William, William Joel and Charles in Monmouth Cty, N.J. and my family of Ocean Cty, N.J. (Monmouth Cty divided in half in 1950).

Now to the names, there was n ever one of our Brown's that used their correct given name. Why I cannot not tell you. I was born Margaret Theresa Brown and never knew I had the Margaret until I went for my driver license, I had to produce my baptism papers. Here I graduated from High School with the name Theresa, when I went to college for art (oil painting) at the age of 50, I used the name Margaret and all my legal papers are Margaret Theresa. Dad used Harry thru life no one ever knowing him as Joseph. Some of my grandfathers brothers had son George 1 and little George and none of their names were George. I guess all they wanted to do is confuse the world, altho, I will admit my Brown's did some crazy legal things. Here is one example:

Joseph (Andrew's) son b 1733 died 1804, had two sons, my gt gt grandfather William and his brother Lewis. William married a (Lydia) Sarah (Sally) Maxon Ashley (she didn't even use her correct name) some where around 1800 (and this is confusing for I think William lived with a Elizabeth Dunham before this). William b 1766 builder of Schooners on the Manasquan River, Howel, Monmouth Cty, N.J. -about a couple of miles from where I live. Well when the fatherdied, Joseph (1804) he did not have a will but several people heard Joseph say that he wanted his son William to put the homestead up to auction and see that his brother Lewis gave the highest bid and get the homestead. Everything went well legally and Lewis got the land and h ouse but owed his brother William one thousand and sixty dollars on bond for this transaction. Lewis married after this and ~~moved in~~ remained in the homestead with his new wife, Mary Burdge. Way I look at this is that Joseph the father was ill and Lewis took care of him. When William died Lewis had not paid one cent on the bond owed.

Another example is that of my gt grandfather, William Joel Brown, he went by Joel Brown was married and had a couple of kids by his first wife, left her, never divorced and married a Nancy Francis and had 13 kids. Nancy and Joel purchased a five acre farm with worthless land of white sand and never could grow anything by sweet potatoes and berries and on the the month following this purchase sold the land and house to two of their sons, my grandfath and any older son, now my grandfather was about sixteen years of age when this occurred. Grandfather was good tho, he remained at home and cared for his parents in their later years Now this William Joel and Nancy moved inland because so many of the Brown family boys died or were lost at sea.

Most of our Brown's had a good sense of business and as I see it they always had more than enough to get by with. William my gt gt g father's papers stated he had either 8 thousand of 80 thousand when he died in 1811, they all may have wore the oldest clothes they owned in the field but when it came to Sunday or a special occassion they dressed in nothing but the best of home made clothes and looked like a million.

Starting with Joseph b 1733, the family were Baptist religion, Quakers befor this. My group are Methodist, some went west with the Latter Day Saints.

I will close and hope to hear from you, when you find time.

Franklin's date with history

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — School kids, already up to their ears in dates, may have a new one to memorize when they return to class.

A scholar claims to have discovered the exact day Ben Franklin arrived here from Boston at age 17, munching on a loaf of bread and looking like an unmade bed. She says it was Oct. 6, 1723.

Historians generally have agreed that it was a Sunday morning in 1723, as stated in Franklin's autobiography, written many years after his arrival. But, pray tell, which Sunday morning? He hadn't said, so the historians were stumped.

Then this week Claude-Anne Lopez, a history scholar from the city's Frankford section who is researching Franklin at Yale University, told the American Philosophical Society here that she had come across a startling discovery.

She said that while examining some photocopies of Franklin papers she had noticed a letter written to him by a Paris bank. Directly beneath the text of the letter was a series of consecutive dates, beginning with Monday, Sept. 23.

The first entry for October, she said, read: "Bay Tuesd. 1 Oct." After that the sequence ran: "Amboy Wed. 2 Water" ... Pines Thursd. 3 Amb" ... "Brown's Friday 4" ... "River D Sat 5" ..."Phila. Sund. 6"

Ah, that was it! She secured a copy of Franklin's autobiography, matching the dates with Franklin's Boston-to-Philadelphia itinerary:

New York Bay the first day; the Amboys in New Jersey, where, Franklin wrote, he drank great quantities of water to fight off a fever on the second day; a trip through the pine lands of southern New Jersey on the third day; an overnight stay at an inn run by a Dr. John Brown on the fourth day; proceeding down the Delaware on the fifth day, and reaching Philadelphia on Oct. 6.

Mrs. Lopez checked her find with Dr. Whitfield Bell Jr., executive officer of the American Philosophical Society, and himself a Franklin scholar.

"I am convinced that the find is authentic and that Mrs. Lopez' interpretation is correct," Bell said. "This is one of these pleasant little bonuses scholars receive now and then. Dozens of historians have seen this letter and Franklin's notation through the years, but until now no one had realized the import."

Oct. 6, 1723. Got that, kids?

Do you suppose?

GREER BROWN

Dear Ms. Armstrong:

I am writing in response to your query in the Bulletin of the Seattle Genealogical Society.

Are you a descendant of Greer Brown of Brown Co., Ohio?

In Glenn Lough's "Awhile Ago Times," Vol. 3, #11, p.4, col. 4, he states that among the settlers by the Ohio River in Ohio and Kentucky were Reuben, John & Isaac BONER (BUNNER), and "GREER BROWN, COUSIN TO THE BUNNERS," Pricketts, Lucas', Springers, Dunns, Longs, etc. These people mentioned were from [then] Monongalia County, Va.

Several of us are tracing the descendants of old Wendel Brown, immigrant from Germany in 1738. His daughter, Christiana, is said to have married Casper Bunner and is ancestress to the Bunners mentioned above, who went to Brown County, Ohio.

If Greer Brown is their cousin, we think he must be the son of Wendel's son, Thomas. Glenn Lough told a cousin and I in a Sunday afternoon visit in his home in Fairmont, W.Va. in 1979 that Thomas had three wives. We need to locate his descendants! Can you help?

I am a descendant of old Adam Brown, son of Wendel, through his son, John, who went to Union County, Ohio.

Several of us are about to start a periodical about the descendants of Wendel Brown. Could you possibly fit into this line?

Greer was a surname in Augusta County, Va, early, and thence westward, and we have wondered if one of Thomas' wives was a Greer, for whom Greer Brown was named.

You mentioned a Greer or Gordon Brown of New Jersey. Is there a proven line from Greer of Adams County to New Jersey, or is this in the worksheet stages?

I am enclosing a pedigree chart, and would appreciate your showing your Brown line on it, and returning it in the enclosed self-addressed stamped envelope. I hope we're on to something here.

I have a nephew and family living in Federal Way--his address was formerly Renton. (Tom Smith)

Sincerely,

Georgia Morgan

and again from 1803 to 1812. He was the grandson of Ezekiel. Dr. Moses Bloomfield, another member of this family, was a well-loved physician in the town whose monument in our cemetery bears the following inscription: "In memory of Dr. Moses Bloomfield, forty years physician and surgeon in this town; senior physician and surgeon in the Hospitals of the United States; Representative in the Provincial Congress and General Assembly; an upright magistrate Elder of the Presbyterian Church. Timothy 1:12, 'I know whom I have believed.'"

In various plots there is a total of forty Bloomfield interments.

Brown Family

Research showed that a George Brown came to Woodbridge from Scotland in 1685 in the good ship "Henry and Frances." He was banished from Scotland for refusal to take the Oath of Abjuration, August 17, 1685. There is a total of at least 124 interments with the name of Brown in numerous plots in our cemetery, the oldest bearing the date 1713, including the above named George Brown, his wife Annabel, son James and daughter-in-law, Agnes.

Clarkson Family

James Clarkson, Sr. was a First Settler at Woodbridge.[10] He came with the Scots contingent in 1684-1685 directly from Scotland. It is believed that the family came from the town of Lithgow, Scotland. He lived only two or three years after arriving here. On October 12, 1687, letters of administration on the estate of James Clarkson, Sr. were granted to his son James, a yeoman of Woodbridge. Following his death, the widow of James Sr. returned to Scotland to live with her son John.

There are twenty-eight interments in the Clarkson plots; the oldest is dated 1715.[11]

Compton Family

Compton is an old family name going back to William the Conqueror in 1066. There is no record of anyone by this name interred in our cemetery. However, William Compton, whose daughter Mary was the first child born in Woodbridge in 1668, is probably the William Compton of Ipswich, Massachusetts. He purchased land there in 1662 but soon thereafter reportedly came to Woodbridge where he was a pioneer settler and received a grant of 174 acres. His grant must have been a wooded area since the records say that he was the first man in this area to cut down timber.

James Cheeseman, Sr. was a First Settler in Woodbridge. He came with the Scots contingent in 1684-1685 directly from Scotland. It is believed that the family came from the town of Linlithgow, Scotland. He lived only two or three years after arriving here. On October 12, 1687, letters of administration on the estate of James Cheeseman, Sr. were granted to his son James, a yeoman of Woodbridge. Following his death, the widow of James Sr. returned to Scotland to live with her son John.

Brown of Woodbridge:

In a very tasteful and pleasing little volume "The NJ Brown," 1931, the author, Mrs. S A Brown, Pres of the Federated Garden Clubs of NY State, has presented the first generation and descendants, with allied families, in NJ.

The name Huguenot is a designation of the Calvinists of France, ans is closely allied to that of a Whig, as originally applied to their fellows, the Presbyterians of Scotland Both tems are the same, and were taken from a call used in the driving of animals.

Summary: Geo and Annabel were married while a member of Episcopal Church, but married by a Jutice of Peace, later as you noted LDS they became members of the Presby, Woodbridge Because of John Marshall or Geor Brown, these two were involed with the Huguenots before Geo married Annabel. Perhaps George was a Huguenot living in Scotland, The Scots were eager to marry French women. I also found our Geo looking at land in Burlington NJ before his marriage, via horseback, at Delaware Falls.
The Huguenot Refugees provided England with some of her finest craftmen during the greater part of a century. These refugees were welcomed in England.

‡Samuel Smith of Woodbridge, son of John Smith, Millright, gave a quit claim to Nathl. Fitz Randolph for lands sold by his father.

The Richard Smith of the records, was probably a distinct family, and a son of a Richard Smith Sen. from whom, Whitehead thinks it probable, most of the Smiths, who became so numerous in that vicinity descended. (See, Post.).

The TAPPANS were the descendants of Abraham Tappan of Newbury, who was made a freeman there 2 May, 1638. He had married previously in England, Susanna Goodale of Yarmouth, and there were probably two children born there; Peter and Elizabeth. On this side of the Ocean he had, Isaac; Abraham, 1644; Jacob, 1645; Susanna, 13 June, 1649; and John, 23 April 1651.

The marriage of Isaac and Abraham are given in the Woodbridge records.

Of the WEBSTERS of Woodbridge, nothing is certainly known as to where they came from; but, as the first of the name there was a member of the Society of Friends, it is probable he came into New Jersey at the settlement of Amboy by the Scotch Proprietors. And this is confirmed by a tradition in the family, that their Ancestor came from Scotland; and from the fact, that the name does not occur in the town records until 1690. The births of seven children of William and Mary Webster, are found there from 1690 to 1700; and of one, in the Monthly Meeting records in 1709. There were probably other children not registered in either place. Some of his family were among the early settlers at Plainfield, N. J.

The RICHARD WORTH of the Woodbridge records, is the Richard of Newbury, who married there 11 Sept. 1667, Mary, daughter of Captain John Pike.

The following list of births, deaths, and marriages at Woodbridge and Piscataway, N. J., was copied from an abstract of the original Town Records, made many years since by William A. Whitehead.

Of the Woodbridge register, he says that he has given the "SUBSTANCE of ALL the entries, so far as they could be decyphered," and that "A part were taken from a later book, in which less regularity in recording, was observed."

Of the Piscataway records, he remarks that the "Deaths do not appear to be recorded with regularity after the first 20 years—And Marriages subsequently less frequently entered. Every entry in the original book is in substance contained in this abstract."

The arrangement in the Abstract has not been retained in this copy;—families of children and persons having the same surname have been here grouped together, for convenience of reference.

FIRST GENERATION

Child of JEAN desMARETS and MARGUERITE deHERVILLE

1 DAVID, born 1620 Beauchamps, France, died Oct. 16, 1695 at present-day New Milford NJ, married July 24, 1643 at the French Church, Middleburg, Island of Walcheren, Zeeland, Marie Sohier, daughter of Francois Sohier and Margrieta, from Nieppe, a town of Hainault, France. She died c.1677/8 about the time of the removal from Harlem NY to the new home on the Hackensack River at New Milford, then called Kinderkamack. David was highly respected wherever he lived; for details see Narrative. His will was dated Aug. 26, 1689 and probated July 30, 1697. His will included a bequest to Anna Cronk, possibly his housekeeper, of 100 acres, and the rest of his estate went to his three sons, equally, except that the son David had died, so "Jean Durie our cousin" represented the children of David Jr. and he later married the widow.

Mountain. Excepting the gap at Little Falls, there are no breaks in this range, although it is in places much lower than the average altitude. The height of this range in Warren township is about 500 feet above tide-water, and 400 above the red sandstone country at Plainfield. Both of the mountains are rough and rocky, and consequently most of their surface is covered with timber. Washington Valley is probably as good an agricultural section as is to be found in the township. Lying between the Second Mountain and Stony Hill is another valley, of higher elevation and less extent, which also contains good farming-lands.

The whole township is well watered. Through Washington Valley flows the east branch of Middle Brook, uniting with another branch running through Dockwatch Hollow, near the southwestern boundary of the township. This branch of Middle Brook is fed by springs and rivulets running from both sides of the valley. Stony Brook, rising in Washington Valley, passes through a deep gorge in the First Mountain and joins Green Brook near the city of Plainfield, affording in its passage several mill-sites, which are well improved. Pumpkin-Patch Branch runs through the second valley and empties into the Passaic River, and Pound Brook flows north into Dead River. Both take their rise at Coontown. Several freestone quarries have formerly been worked in the township, yielding a beautiful and fine quality of building-stone, but at present they are discontinued.

The original tracts of land purchased in Warren township were as follows: The east portion of the William Penn tract lay in the northwest part of the town. East of the Penn tract and east of Mordecai Brook and south of Passaic River were then small lots, as follows: No. 108, taken up by Ephraim Dunham, March 1, 1730, 100 acres "joining Penn's, & 20 chs on Passaic River;" Nos. 130, 131, by Peter Runyan, June 16, 1743, 30 acres, and 25 acres "on south side of Pasaick, at the first brook above Dockwra's upper corner of his 3000;" No. 49, William Dockwra, May 20, 1690, "3000 acres on south side of Pasaick, begins at his lowest corner."

A tier of lots between the First and Second Mountains, as follows: 104, to the west, was taken by Daniel Hollinshead, March 25, 1727, 393 acres "between 1st & 2d mountains, at Elisha Parker's;" 96, same date, to John Parker, 165 acres, between Hollinshead and Hamilton; 90, to John Hamilton, same date, 500 acres between First and Second Mountains.*

EARLY SETTLEMENT.

Settlements were made at a considerable period before the Revolution, though the exact date of any one of them cannot now be ascertained. The court-house, with the deeds and records of Somerset County, was destroyed by fire during the Revolution, and the means of ascertaining and establishing many valuable facts was consequently lost. Mr. Jacob Manning, of Plainfield, born in 1799, is authority for saying that the earliest settlements in the township were made near the Passaic River and in Washington Valley, on account of the little value which the pioneers attached to the land on the plains.

Joseph and Henry Allen were among the first settlers, and came from England over two hundred years ago. Henry settled on Long Island, and Joseph came to Washington Valley, in Warren township, then a wilderness. He settled on the run, about 600 yards from where his great-grandson, William Allen, now resides at the age of seventy-six. William Allen was born within half a mile of his present residence, in 1805, and has never been 50 miles from home during his long life. He is the grandson of Joseph Allen, son of the first Joseph, and a son of William Allen, who was born on the homestead in February, 1766, and was a carpenter and farmer by occupation. He married Nancy Marshall and reared a family of seven children, of whom William was the youngest, and is the sole survivor. He married Huldah Cole, daughter of Amos Cole, of Scotch Plains, and had five children,—all deceased,—George, William, Marsh, Nancy, and Elizabeth. The brothers and sisters of Mr. Allen were Marsh, Elizabeth, Sarah, Mary, Jane, and Joseph. Marsh lived and died in what is now North Plainfield. Elizabeth married Hon. David D. Smalley, a prominent farmer of Warren township, which he represented in the Legislature of the State.

David Allen, eleventh son of David, Jr., married Susan Townley, and was an early resident of Washington Valley. He had children,—Aaron, who married Maria, daughter of Thomas Stead, and had Sophia Elizabeth; Sarah Anne, who married Israel, son of Moses Moore, Feb. 21, 1849, and had David Allen; Elias, who married Elizabeth C. Spencer, daughter of James L. Spencer, Feb. 28, 1849, and had Cornelia; David, John, and Mary. In the Allen burying-ground, the oldest in the township, rest the remains of many of the old pioneers and their descendants.

Anthony Badgley was an early settler. He was the third son of Anthony, the third son of James Badgley, who came to the Valley between the First and Second Mountains in 1736–37, where he had surveyed to him by the Elizabethtown surveyor a tract of 400 acres lying above Blue Brook, and extending south to the top of the First Mountain. The descendants were very numerous, and some of them settled in Warren township. Hence we find Alfred Badgley holding office in the township in 1849.

George Brown, son of Andrew, lived on Stony Hill, where John W. Hand afterwards resided. His wife's name was Elizabeth Martin, of Woodbridge. She died Aug. 6, 1777, aged twenty-five, and he afterwards married a Wood, sister of Samuel, of Dayton, and of Esther, the wife of Jonathan Totten. His children were Thompson, whose name occurs frequently in the town records; Noah, who died at about twenty-two;

Elizabeth, who married Lewis Badgley and removed to Paterson. Thompson Brown married Patty, daughter of Andrew Wade, of Morris County. He removed to Westfield, and owned there a large distillery. He left his wife and children there and went to Ohio, where his daughter Mary afterwards married John Keith. His son, Andrew Wade, married a daughter of Jesse V. Douglas and moved to Sayer's Bridge, in Springfield township.

William Cole lived on the north side of Green Brook. His wife was Betsey Dennis, and had six children. William, his oldest son, married Elizabeth, daughter of William Williamson, of Plainfield, and had eight children. He was a surveyor and schoolmaster, and was known as "Master Cole." He lived where his father did, and left numerous descendants, among whom have been a number of men of some prominence.

Mulford Cory, the oldest child of Rev. Benjamin, lived on a place near Union village. He had seven children, among whom were Joseph and Benjamin, twin-brothers, who entered Princeton College together and graduated in the same class. They studied theology, were licensed on the same day to preach, in 1834, were both ordained at the same session of the Presbytery, in April, 1835,—Joseph over the church at New Vernon, Morris Co., and Benjamin over that at Perth Amboy, Middlesex Co.

There were, and are still, several branches of the Cory family in this township and contiguous territory. Daniel, who lived on the north side of Long Hill (New Providence township), was an elder in the Presbyterian Church of New Providence, and died on June 26, 1815, aged eighty-two. He left a large family of children, from whom numerous descendants have sprung. Daniel Cory, of Warren township, is the son of John Cory, who resided on the same farm. John Cory was born March 5, 1762, on Long Island. His first wife was Martha Berry, born in Rockaway, Morris Co., in 1767; married Jan. 26, 1784; died April 30, 1799. His second wife was Phebe Ruckman (mother of Daniel Cory), born July 11, 1785; married to John Cory, June 29, 1800. John Cory died July 16, 1834; Phebe (Ruckman) died Oct. 18, 1875. Children: Daniel, born June 17, 1808; Lot, born June 10, 1813, died May 16, 1814; Jonathan, born June 13, 1815, an attorney and counselor-at-law in San Jose, Ill. Daniel married Rachel Willet, Dec. 3, 1831; she was born Nov. 15, 1808. Their children and grandchildren are Matilda, born Dec. 3, 1832, married Samuel Titus, Nov. 5, 1853 (children, Annette Titus, born Dec. 24, 1854; Isaac Titus, Oct. 18, 1857; Edwin F. Titus, March 29, 1859); John, born May 24, 1834, married Mary French, Sept. 5, 1863 (children, Ella M., born Nov. 20, 1866; Mary Emma, July 30, 1868; Nettie L., Nov. 15, 1872; Maggie R., Jan. 28, 1875); Phebe E., born Dec. 20, 1835, married Jacob Adams (children, Daniel C., born Nov. 20, 1865; Rachel F., April 14, 1867, died May 16, 1877; Mary, Aug. 28, 1868); Hannah W., born June 10, 1838, died Sept. 21, 1860; Preston C., born March 1, 1840, died March 25, 1871; Edwin F., born Dec. 13, 1841, died Nov. 11, 1866; Eugene, born Jan. 24, 1844, died March 24, 1844; Thomas W., born April 1, 1845, died May 4, 1845; Rachel, born July 14, 1846, died April 23, 1863; Zachary Taylor, born March 4, 1849, died March 21, 1873.

Both Daniel and his brother, Jonathan Cory, were members of the Legislature from Somerset County.

Enos Mundy came from Middlesex County and settled in Washington Valley about 1800. He had children,—David, Lewis, Fanny, Peter, Margaret, Catharine, and Isaac, in the order named. Lewis, Fanny, and Catharine are still living. Lewis married Mary Swazey, of Chester, Morris Co., and lived at Mount Bethel, on the farm now occupied by his son, Ira. He had children,—Ira, Simeon, Catharine, Mary, Julia Ann, and Sarah. Ira has been twice married, his first wife being Mary, daughter of William B. Coddington, and his second wife Hannah Titus, widow of Philip Winans. He has one son by the first marriage, Lewis Mundy, who is married and resides in Bernard township. Catharine married Jacob Van Dyke of Bridgewater. Julia Ann married Thomas Coddington, former sheriff of Somerset County. Mary married Jonathan Moore, of Warren township. Sarah married Thomas Hays, now residing in Kentucky. Simeon married Catharine Todd, and is a farmer in Bernard township; he has a family of six children.

Benjamin, Archibald, and John Coddington settled at Mount Horeb before the Revolution. Their descendants have been prominent in the civil affairs of both township and county. The name appears to have been originally spelled Corrington, and may be so found in some of the early records. Archibald married Mary Coon and had children,—Isaiah, Jeremiah, Caty (who married a Campbell), Sarah (Mrs. Bird), Abigail (Mrs. Compton), John (who died at the age of eight), Benjamin, David (born 1797), Israel, William A., Isaac V., and Archibald. William A., Isaac V., and Archibald are still living.

Thomas Coddington is the oldest son of his grandfather's oldest son, Isaiah. He was born Feb. 8, 1821, and married Julia Ann Mundy. They have children,—William, Lewis, and Marietta. Mr. Coddington was elected sheriff of Somerset County in 1868, and discharged the duties of that responsible office three years.

John Coddington, brother of the first Benjamin and Archibald, married Mary Coon (of another family) and had children,—Harriet, Catharine, Ann, George W., Reuben, John, Bartholomew, and Mercy. George W., of this family, lives in Bernard township, and has a large family. Bartholomew is a resident of Warren township; he married a daughter of William B. Coddington. His children are David, William, Reuben, and Charles, who reside in this township, and daughters, Catharine, Jane, Mary, etc.

Farewell good man. —— ——
—— —— ——

A blessed subject Thou of heavenly grace.
Thy life Was holy, and thy end Was peace.
Thy warfare's o'er, and in a good old age,
Hast Thou concluded well, Thy pilgrimage:
What pungent grief, The doleful tidings spread,
When thou wast number'd with the pious dead.
Insatiate death! What inroads did's't Thou make,
And forc'd from our embrace, our honor'd DRAKE.

Dear folks:

As soon as we hung up the phones the other night I dug into the file cabinet to see wh t might contain regarding Brown's family background and if I do not get that all typed up in rea le order to include with this will send as soon as it is done.. The first hing which did turn up may not prove exactly to the liking of either of them: Ralph and Lynn are cousins - double ones for that matter since his line goes back just as ours does to both John West and James Edwar One of the Brown great-grandmothers having been a West whose mother was an Edwards. I think I have all that is needed to complete the lines all the way to several Revolutionary War ancestors West, Edwards, Brown and possibly Abbott - and did find the record of when his great- , of great-great-grandfather - bought the farm on which he and his father were born. It was that same man who donated the land for the schoolhouse there which musthave been the one Ralph mentioned as the Iron Bridge School. The record does specify that the land he bought lay on both sides of both Straight Creek and the Ripley-Arnheim Road. The only thing neceasary which will be lacking in wh I can find here is the information about his own mother and grand-mother which he should be able to provide himself. But he can see by the blanks left in what I send what he will need to add to it to complete. Also found that the grandfather Emons is buried in the old Abbott (now called Wardlow) Family Graveyard which would indicate it has been used in comparitively recent years. Tom and I did cover it carefully and thoroughly last Fall but had stupidly forgotten to take alor a pitchfork or other metal to be used as a prod for fallen andburied markers. But will surely do that the next time there as Glenn Brown out here is very anxious to try to find a stone for old Greer Brown. Several different histories state that he is buried there andthat would be the most logical place. And in a row containing stones I am sure are for some of his sons there are wide blank spaces that would be unmarked graves. Oh yes, there is one other blank in the record as I have it. One ofthem, Greer I think, was married twice and I have nothing to show which wife was the mother of the son from whom he is descended, but he might find something there on that or something else may later show up to indicate when the first wife died so as to rule her out as the mother of children born later than that year. At least will send all that I can find here andthen if he is unable to complete maybe Glenn Brown may have some more on it when I see him. A pe and I are supposed to do after the New Year because Eleanor Donovan insists that if we come down to that area she will drag out the spoons and let us examine them. And THAT I want to do. Id Brown familiar with their story? He should be for they were once in the care of a Brown woman, Tom Johnson's grandmother. Also is he aware that he is a cousin of some sort of Tom's thru that same Brown-Johnson marriage. Stretching the relationship rather thin but still they al came from the same stock originally. Have also recently found more proof on the Edwards entry into Brown County for thestory of who founded and named Aberdeen and why. One history of Clermont Co. states in black and white that the Edwards family sat it out in Maysville waiting for the birth of a grandson before they would risk crossing to the wilderness that was then North of the river. And that they did move as soon as the child was 6 weeks old and since I have that child' exact birth date can place their migration to within one week of what has to be the exact date which is more than most families can do that far back. Usually within some specific year is as close as can be hit. But will have to keep this a little brief so as to get at the typing of Brown's records.

This is all just an accumulation of information dug out of various sources ranging from published histories of Adams-Brown and Clermont Counties to the personal papers left by Rosetta West LaMonda who for many years was the best authority on the West and Edwards Allied families, including Brown. It should be checked as for dates for in some cases those of family Bibles do not exactly agree with some found on tombstones or in the county histories. Very little whatever is available now regarding the original Greer Brown for the old histories all agree that he was buried on the Abbott farm in the then Abbott Family Graveyard, later renamed Wardlow. In Sep. 1977 that graveyard was easily entered and searched as it is kept in fair condition. N tangle of briars and shrubs such as found in many of its age. It is grown up in tall and heavy rass but that did not hinder locating most marked graves. In approximately the center of the llside located graveyard are markers for some believed to be sons of Greer Brown. In that same row there are unmarked spaces which could well contain the grave of Greer. One reference referred to did state that his wife died before they left Kentucky so it is unlikely that she would be buried beside him since thatlong ago all burials took place within a short time of death and at the most convenient place at the time. Her body would almost certainly not have been brought to Brown County, Ohio, that many years ago. There is also one mile North of Bethe Ohio a small "private Brown family graveyard" but no marker has been found in it which seems to refer to any of this immediate line.

Sometime before the grass begins to grown again in 1978 SOMEone should go to the Abbott Graveya taking along a stout pitchfork or other similar "probe" and test the ground to see if any indication of other burials can be found, especialy any marker which has fallen and is now buried under he grass or soil. That is not at all hard to do and very often provides evidence of previously unknown markers. The graveyard can be easily entered from the barnyard of the farm just beyond it and in Sep. 1977 the farmer there was most cooperative. I think tho that if it e spotted from the pike it would be easier to get up the hill to the graves from that road for at side the growth seemed less dense. We were unaware of just where the graveyard was located it was necessary to go to the house andenquire. I believe the mailbox is for someone named arlow. But you probably are well aware of the cemetery from having been raised near there.

e are still searching for the site of the 20 foot square log cabin which housed the first court ouse - almost certainly nothing more there now than some stones from the foundation but as late s 1911 all the logs were still piled in one stack and were in good condition. Any information hatever as to any clue to that site would be appreciated.

BRWON-EDWARDS

SUSANNAH DOWNING EDWARDS, wife ofGeorge Edwards, was the daughter of John DOWNING (a noted early Kentucky Indian scout and fighter and friend of Daniel Boone) and wife Susannah ELLIS DOWNING.

Both George and Susannah Downing Edwards are buried in the old West-Evans Family Graveyard with marked graves. The couple had the following children:

John Edwards	who married	Delilah Jacobs (1817) and Susan Adams (1847)
Elizabeth Edwards	" "	William Brown, 1820
Sarah Edwards	" "	Edwards West (from whom Ralph Woods is descended)

Mandana Edwards	who married	Jonas Shreeves

Orange Edwards	" "	Catherine LeFabre and Mary McMillan Shaw

An unnamed child which died when only a few days old.

(NOTE: Certain names have been carried down for many generations thru the Edwards and allied West families. Two of the best known examples of this are the naming of daughters Eleanor as a form of respect for the old grandmother Eleanor LAWS Edwards who was married to Richard Edwards in 1690 andwho just prior to the Revolutionary War sent to her granddaughter Eleanor Edwards West in Va. a set of six silver spoons which had been a wedding gift to Eleanor Laws Edwards and which are still in existence and now in the care of Eleanor Brown Donovan. In the male line the unusual Christian name of Orange has been continued down to well within this present century. The lastto bear that name was Dr. Orange Edwards who died in Seattle in recent years. A one time mayor of Ripley also had that name. The female name of Lettice (see Lettice West Brown, born 1-25-1776) is also traditional in theWest family and goes back to Elizabethab England. The Tudor family turned up a Lettice Knollys (ancestress of the Virginia Wests) who was acknowledged as the most beautiful and most notorious woman at the court of Queen Elizabeth I. She was a descendant of Elizabeth's aunt Mary Boleyn and was most of her life in disfavor with Elizabeth who used Lettice's well known low morals and popularity with the entire (male) court as the published grounds for her disfavor. The real reason was the queen's jealousy of Lettice's widely known popularity with the men and her equally well known willingness and agility in getting into and out of the beds of most of the men at court. Lettice Knollys was the daughter of Sir Francis Knollys and a great granddaughter of Mary Boleyn with the very strong possibility that her grandmother had been the daughter of King Henry VIII and not of William Carey to whom Mary Boleyn had been married when it was discovered she was pregnant after having been the known mistress for several years of King Henry. If he was the parent that would have made Lettice a double cousin of Queen Elizabeth. When quite young Elizabeth had considered Lettice her favorite cousin and only turned against her after she became Lady Hereford as the wife of the favorite Lord Leicester who later became Earl of Essex so that Lettice Knollys wasthen the step-mother of Elizabeth's greatest favorite, the younger Lord Essex. Lettice Knollys also carried on a notable and long time flirtation with another of Elizabeth's great favorites, Thomas Heneage who was also a relative of heQueen. Frequently during the reigh of Elizabeth I lettice Knollys was "sent down from court" and barred from any appearance there, but that never hurt her popularity with outhers than the Queen and she left her well known name to be carried down thru many generations of West and Edwards descendants. In the Brown families the name Greer was oftenbestowed in honor of the old grandfather who was the first of the Browns in Broan County. The exact date of his arrival there is uncertain but in histories of Adams, Broan and Clermont Counties is said to have been before the year 1800/ The bst known story being thatjust prior to

The following is as copied from the Family Bible of George Brown by a grandson Aylett Augustas Brown in 1902 and presented to Rosetta West LaMonda:

From his marriage when about 25/26 years old until the birth of last child on 1818 he regularily produced children usually at the rate of one every year or every two years until he was in his middle 50s.) Also note that some of the dates as given in this do not agree exactly with those as taken from the histories andtombstones. Generally Bible records are the most acceptable and should be used when available, as in this copy.)

When the above was given to Mrs. LaMonda it had attached a handwritten note which stated "This page is a true copy of the records of my great grandfather Jo Brown taken off by his great grandson Aylett A. was a daughter of

George EDWARDS, born Jan. 3, 1772 in Fairfax County, Va.
died Oct. 28 1870 in Brown County, Ohio married Aug. 23, 1794 in Mason Co., Ky. to Susannah Downing, born 2-5-177 died Aug. 6, 1853 in Brown Co.

(NOTE: Both George and Susannah Downing Edwards are buried in the West (Evans) Family Graveyard above Rattlesnake Creek in Byrd Twsp. Brown Co., Ohio in marked graves. They were the parents of 14 children, all bu one of whom grew to adulthood: one was Orange Edwards, Mayor of Ripley at one ti George Edwards himself was appointed by an early court to select a site for the courtwhich was to be removed from Bridgewater on the Brwon-Abbott lands and to lay out a town andsell lots. He favored keeping the county seat at Bridgewater but the eventual selection of Georgetown as the court site made his appointment of no use. George Edwards lived into his 99th year and there is still in existence a good photograph of him made only shortly before he died. During the War of 1812 he raised his own troops and was the first commissioned officer from the Brown County area, commanding the First Regimanet, First Brigade, Second Ohio Militia being "called out" on July 17, 1813 for an indefinite period and leading his forces into action at Lake Erie. He was first commissioned as a Major but was later given the title of Colonel. He served for 8 terms in the Ohio State Legislature being the first such for Brown County when it was formed. Georfe Edwards was also the grandfather of William Hayden Edwards, U.S. Consul General to Berlin and who also served in a similar capacity in Rio Janerio. After the death of Susannah Downing Edwards the widowed George Edawrds made his home with his son Orange Edwards and family.

GEORGE EDWARDS was the youngest child (of 9) of James William Edwards and wife Sarah Songster Everett Edwards, the latter a member of the noted New England Everett family and her mother had been a Songster. James William Edwards was born in 1702 in Aberdeen, Scotland where his parents Richard and Eleanor LAWS Edwards settled after heir marriage in 1690. Theywere nativesof Wales. When about 11 years old James William Edwards was kidnapped while out hunting the family cow, put on board a sailing vessel, transported to New York and there sold - to a blacksmith - as a "bound boy, to serve until 21 years of age. He became so good at the smithy trade and so popular with his teacher that he was released from his indenture at the age of 18. He married about the year 1752 and removed to Virginia from which state he served in the Revolution. He was one of two children, having only a brother Robert Alexander Edwards who was trained in the Royal Navy and later held a "letter of Marque which entitled him to a proportion of all that he could steal from the French on the high seas and which made him an extremely wealthy man when much of that lootwas converted into land in w hat is now Manhattan, New York City. Following the Revolution James William Edwards and family moved to Limestone, Ky. and proceed four miles back t the town of Washington, Ky. where on Jul. 26, 1791 he and his wife purchased Lot 4 in Washington from William May, giving as payment "the sum of a negroe wench to them in hand paid". More than one lot was included in the deal but only the numbered 4 is specified. On Oct. 27, 1795 when preparing to move to Ohio Edward and wife sold that land to one William Clark, for an unrecorded amount. The Edwards and allied families moved to Ohio in mid-December 1796. That date can b positively established by the fact that the family was forced to remain in the comparative safety of Limestone (now Maysville) while waiting for the birth of a grandchild. That child, John Rains - son of James and Sarah Jacobs Edwards - wa born on Oct. 30, 1796 and the families moved when it was just 6 weeks old. James William Edwards took outa license for and established one of the earliest ferry boats to operate from Maysville to the north shore of the Ohio and also founded the town of Aberdeen by building several homes for himself and children and by building the first mill across the river from Maysville. By the time his will was drawn in 1803 the settlement was "known as Aberdeen" even tho it was not officially platted and formed until 1816. James William Edwards died in 1804 ar no graves can be found for him or hiswife found for him and his wife because they were washed away by flood waters.

that year Greer Brown who had been born in Virginia in 1739 and served in the Revolutionary army migrated to what is now Franklin Twsp, Brown County, Ohio in company with Joseph Abbott who had been born the same year. Brown and Abbott took up 1,000 acres of land along Straight Creek well back from the river and established homes there. Abbott and Brown amicably divided the land into equal 500 acre portions and each retained one of those. The first Brown County Courthouse - a 20 foot square log cabin was supposedly erected on the Abbott area of the land. Greer Brown was a brotherof Eunice Brown Thorpe who also moved to Ohio. Greer Brown married twice: 1st to Eunice Demarest and 2nd to Sally Davis, a sister of a Captain Jefferson Davis, but not the Civil War one of that name. By the two wives he had children:

Ann M. Brown who married David Newman
Lettice Browb " " Silas Abbott
John C. Brown " " Lettice West (he had served in the Revolution and was said to D been born in New Jersey.
William Brown " " Elizabeth Edwards, daughter of George Edwards. William was claimed to have been born in Virginia so the Greer Brown famil had most likely moved there from New Jersey after the war.
David Brown
James Brown
Ephriam Brown and possibly others.

It has always been reported that Greer Brown (whose wife had died in Kentucky and therefor was almost certainly buried there somewhere) is buried in the Abbott Family Graveyard but no marker has ever been found for him there. However, in a row where some of his descendants are known to be buried there are some blank spaces which might easily contain a grave for him. That cemetery was carefully searched as late as September 1977 and no marker found. Neither was any found in March 1963 when Lillian Colletta and Leslie Pucke made a careful search while compiling their TOMBSTONE INSCRIPTIONS OF BRWON COUNTY, OHIO. Beers' and other early histories state that Greer Brown is buried in Abbott's which is quite likely.

In a biographical note titled JOHN E. BROWN in the Franklin Township section Beers tells:

"JOHN E. BROWN, farmer, P.O. Russellville, was born on Straight Creek, in Franklin Township, April 26, 1828. His father, David D. Brown, was a native of Brown County, Ohio, an an agricultirist through life. He married Eliza Abbott, also a natove of Franklin Township, who bore him eight children. Mr. Brown departed this life in 1879. Mrs. Brown still survives, and resides in Clark Township, four miles from Bethel. John E. Brown att ed his majority on his father's farm, obtaining the benefits of a good English education. He early learned the carpenter's trade, and followed it for about twenty years, erecting all the buildings on his own farm, and many of the substantial residences and barns in th portion of Brown County. He also worked at his trade in New Orleans for twowinter season butnot liking the country, came back to Ohio. On February 9, 1857, he purchased 111 acr of land - his present farm - which is located on both sides of Straight Creek, and the Ripley andArnheim pike. ((NOTE: Where Richard L. Brown was born?)) A short time since Mr. Brown gave one-half acre of his land to the school district in which he resides. (NO The Iron Bridge School?) upon which was erected a handsome frame schoolhouse. Mr. Brown has been fairly successful in life; is Democratic on National questions, but locally votes for the man who will best serve the community; and has officiated as School Directo He was married, March 6, 1856 to Sarah E. Coombes, a native of Southern Indiana. They h eight children - William M.(who married Annie Kendall) Levi E., Clement A., Annie May, A Ora, Lee Owen, Eddie, and Lora Eliza."

OBITUARY

William Carey Brown was born near Russellville, Brown County, Ohio, August 19, 1844. He departed this life on March 9, 1932, which leaves his period of earthly sojourn to be 87 years, 6 months and 19 days.

On December 12, 1867, he was married to Miss Melissa Lavina Kirkpatrick, who, as a life-long most faithful companion, survives him. To this union were born four children, Willie C., who died in infancy; Mrs. Mabel Curry of Mount Hope, Kansas; Mrs. W. L. Sexton of Wichita, Kansas; and Geo. F. Brown, of Fairfax, Calif. Besides the wife and three children, there are left to mourn their loss, one niece, Mrs. Pauline Mary Hill of Mount Hope Kansas; three nieces and nephews and other relatives in Ohio; also other relatives in the vicinity of Mount Hope, Kansas.

The deceased served his country during the Civil War as a member of the second division of the second brigade of Company G, 193rd Regiment, Ohio Volunteer Infantry, Army of the Shenandoah.

Mr. Brown came to Kansas in 1871, took up a homestead and has lived on the same homestead farm until the day of his death. As one of the earliest pioneer settlers, he saw the various changes which transformed this vicinity from a wild prairie to the Garden Spot of Kansas. With a brave heart and strong courage, he shared the new country's rigors, hardships, and dangers. He saw the first burial service in the Mount Hope cemetery. Neighbors, friends and strangers alike were the recipients of his hospitality and service, for "Uncle Billy and Aunt Vina," as they were called, were known far and wide for being willing-hearted and busy-handed, and the latter part of their sixty-five years of married life brought back to them many a crumb of bread which they had cast upon the water in earlier days.

Brother Brown's religious life was exemplary. He had strong convictions and strong faith. He was a lover of the Bible, and found much strength in the sentiment of many of our Christian hymns. His interests very definitely included his church, which he served with since devotion. He was a member of the Christian church which merged into the Mount Hope Federated church.

The grand-children are as follows: Corlande Curry Brown, deceased, James Brown Whitelaw, deceased; Mossalene Livingstone, Long Beach, Calif., Glenn Luther Brown, San Antonio, Texas; George Carey Brown, Fairfac, Calif.; Billie Belle Brown, Fairfax, Calif.; and one great grandson, Hugh Livingston, Long Beach, Calif.

"I cannot walk in darkness long,
My Light is by my side;
I cannot stumble or go wrong
While following such a guide.

"He is my stay and my defense—
How shall I fail or fall?
My Helper is Omnipotence,
My Ruler ruleth all.

"The powers below and powers above
Are subject to His care;
I cannot wander from His love
Whose love is everywhere."

W. C. BROWN, KANSAS PIONEER, PASSES AWAY

W. C. Brown, one of the first settles in this community who came to Kansas 61 years ago this summer, passed away at his home southwest of Mount Hope Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock.

Mr. Brown was born in Brown county, Ohio, leaving there in 1866 for Sedalia, Mo. where he bought an 80-acre farm. Here he lived for four years and on December 12, 1867 was married to Vina Kirtpatrick. In 1871 they sold their holdings in Missouri and came to Kansas, settling on the site of the present home, Cedar Farm, four miles southwest of Mount Hope, where they have lived since.

A full obituary will be published in The Clarion next week.

MT. HOPE PIONEER BURIED SATURDAY

Mrs. Malissa Lavine Brown Resided at Cedar Farm More Than 60 Years

Funeral services for Mrs. Malissa Lavina Brown, pioneer Mt. Hope resident who died last Wednesday, were held Saturday with burial beside her husband, who died less than a year ago, in the Mt. Hope cemetery. She was 86 years old.

Mrs. Brown was one of Mt. Hope's earliest residents. She was born in Russellville, O., December 17, 1846, and in 1871 was married to W. C. Brown. They moved from Ohio to Missouri and then to Kansas. Among her prized possessions which she brought to Kansas were small cedar trees which the couple planted on their homestead near Mt. Hope. The place was called Cedar farm.

During her early life Mrs. Brown had many interesting experiences. The Civil war was not history but a part of her life, with three brothers and her sweetheart entering the ranks with the Northern soldiers. U. S. Grant came into command of the army at Georgetown less than 10 miles north of her home. The underground railroad passed near her farm home.

For years after Mrs. Brown settled with her husband on the Kansas homestead oxen were used to plow the land and also served as a mode of transportation. Then came horses and finally the automobile, Mrs. Brown being the first Mt. Hope woman to ride in what was then the latest invention.

In her 61 years of residence at Cedar farm Mrs. Brown took an active interest in advancing the church, school and home.

She is survived by three children, Mrs. Will Sexton of Wichita, Mrs. Mable Curry of Mt. Hope and George Brown of California.

Jewell mortuary of Mt. Hope had charge of the funeral services.

EVERGREENS

To such pioneer women as Mrs. Malissa Lavina Brown, who died at Mt. Hope last week, this state owes debts it can never pay. Mrs. Brown came to Kansas a half century ago and brought with her a bundle of young cedar trees. The Brown place became known as Cedar Farm and gave to that community a pleasing touch of evergreen.

All over rural Kansas are evergreens, monuments to such women as Mrs. Brown. A Kansas landscape can be dreary in mid-winter. Nature weilds a brush of drab pigments when the sun goes south. As the native cedar did not venture out of the protection of the hills when Kansas was young there was no relief from sameness. .

But the early day Kansas housewife corrected that. She brought the native red cedar out of the hills. She found ways to transplant the western bull pine to the Kansas plains until today, through her desire for a splash of cheerful green when winter has Kansas garbed in a drab mantle, rural Kansas is dotted with evergreen bowers nodding tribute in wintry winds to the spirit of such women as

DIED.

AT her home, Monday, March 5th. Rosalie C. Brown, beloved wife of J. C. Brown. Rosa Ruckweed was born in Heilbraun, Wirtemberg, Germany, October 16th, 1860. Was educated at Wineburg. Came to Kansas in 1881, and was married to J. C. Brown, September 3rd, 1882. Funeral services were conducted by Elder I. H. Fuller, assisted by Rev. Pauf, after which the remains were laid away in the Mt. Hope Cemetery.

YES, our dear Rosa has gone from us and as we stood beside the coffin that contained all that was mortal of our loved one, we could but exclaim, "how unsearchable are His judgments and His ways past finding out." She was a faithful wife, a loving mother, and a true christian. Quiet and unassuming in her manner, her life was so pervaded with the spirit of the Master that by her christian example she won all hearts. To know her was to love her and those who knew her best loved her most. When she knew that she would die, she was not afraid to cross the dark river. Her only care seemed to be for the dear ones she was leaving behind. Never has it been my lot to witness a sadder scene than that of this bereaved family the aged mother, the brokenhearted husband and the two darling little girls.

She has gone in the springtime of life,
Ere her sky had been dimmed by a cloud,
While her heart with a rapture of love was yet rife,
And the hopes of her youth unbowed.
From that heart that was bound to her own,
From the mother who loved her so well,
Our Rosa has crossed the dark river,
And gone to her Savior to dwell.

OBITUARY.

John C. Brown was born in Brown county, Ohio, in 1840. He was the son of G. W. and Eleanor (Bayne) Brown. He enlisted in the war of the rebellion in 1862 in the seventh Ohio cavalry company E, was in the engagements of Knoxville, Atlanta, Nashville and other battles of his command, was mustered out in 1865. His own captain Rankin said: "He was one of the bravest soldiers under my command."

He came to Kansas in 1870 and located on his farm section 30, Mt. Hope, Kansas, in 1871 and resided there until his death which occurred September 14, 1914.

He was married to Rosa Ruckwied in 1882 in Hutchinson, Kansas. To this union three children were born Mrs Carrie Brewer, Mrs Mary Hill and a little son who died in infancy.

Before the two daughters arrived at school age the mother had departed this life, leaving Mr Brown to be both father and mother to the daughters, which duty he faithfully fullfilled until his death.

He lived to give both daughters a high school education, then turned his attention to laying by in store a home for the girls on his homestead when they should be left without a father's love and devotion.

Mr Brown was christened in the Presbyterian church when an infant but never identified himself with any church after reaching manhood. He believed in God and raised his family to always be present at the house of God, giving generously of his means to all good causes, but of a modest retiring disposition it was given so that no one knew who had given. He was a man among men, lived a clean honest, upright life throughout the 73 odd years of his life when he was called upon to lay down his burden here. He leaves a brother and two daughters to mourn his loss.

Funeral services were held from the late home of the deceased on Sept. 15 1914, with J. F. Hay in charge and interment was made in the Mt. Hope cemetery.

Jim Brown not older, just wiser

By Terry Young
Valley Post staff reporter

MT. ORAB—Old Jim Brown's soft, blue eyes don't work very well. They have seen a lot and Brown says they may just be worn out.

Brown turned 104 years old Sunday.

But his poor sight and hearing don't dull his alertness. He can easily recall his first days at school—that would have been 98 years ago.

He grins when he considers the fact that he may be among Ohio's oldest residents. Someone once told him that the older a man becomes, the wiser he gets.

"If that is true, I just might be the wisest man in the state," he said with a chuckle.

However, he's not one to offer sage pieces of advice. He simply gets a kick out of demonstrating his recall ability. He likes to talk about his early days in school. His wedding in a creek. Voting, hard work and Pete Rose.

Originally a resident of the Ripley area, Brown was a son of Henry Bascum Brown, who lived to be 111.

As a youngster, Jim Brown roamed the wooded hillsides north of Ripley, which overlook the Ohio River.

HE SAID HE was six years old when he started going to school. He can't remember where the building was located but he does remember it was a cold, one-room schoolhouse.

"I remember the woman teacher was especially nice to me," Brown said.

Although he says he was always getting into trouble, he only received one whipping. "I got caught fighting with another boy. Not only did I have some bruises from that fight, but the teacher gave me some too," he recalled.

In 1902, he decided to marry Lida Purdin.

"We started out for the preacher's one morning in the middle of winter. When we came across a frozen creek, I had to get out and see if it was safe enough to lead the horses and buggy across," he said.

"The ice was thick enough and when I got back into the buggy, we saw the preacher heading our way.

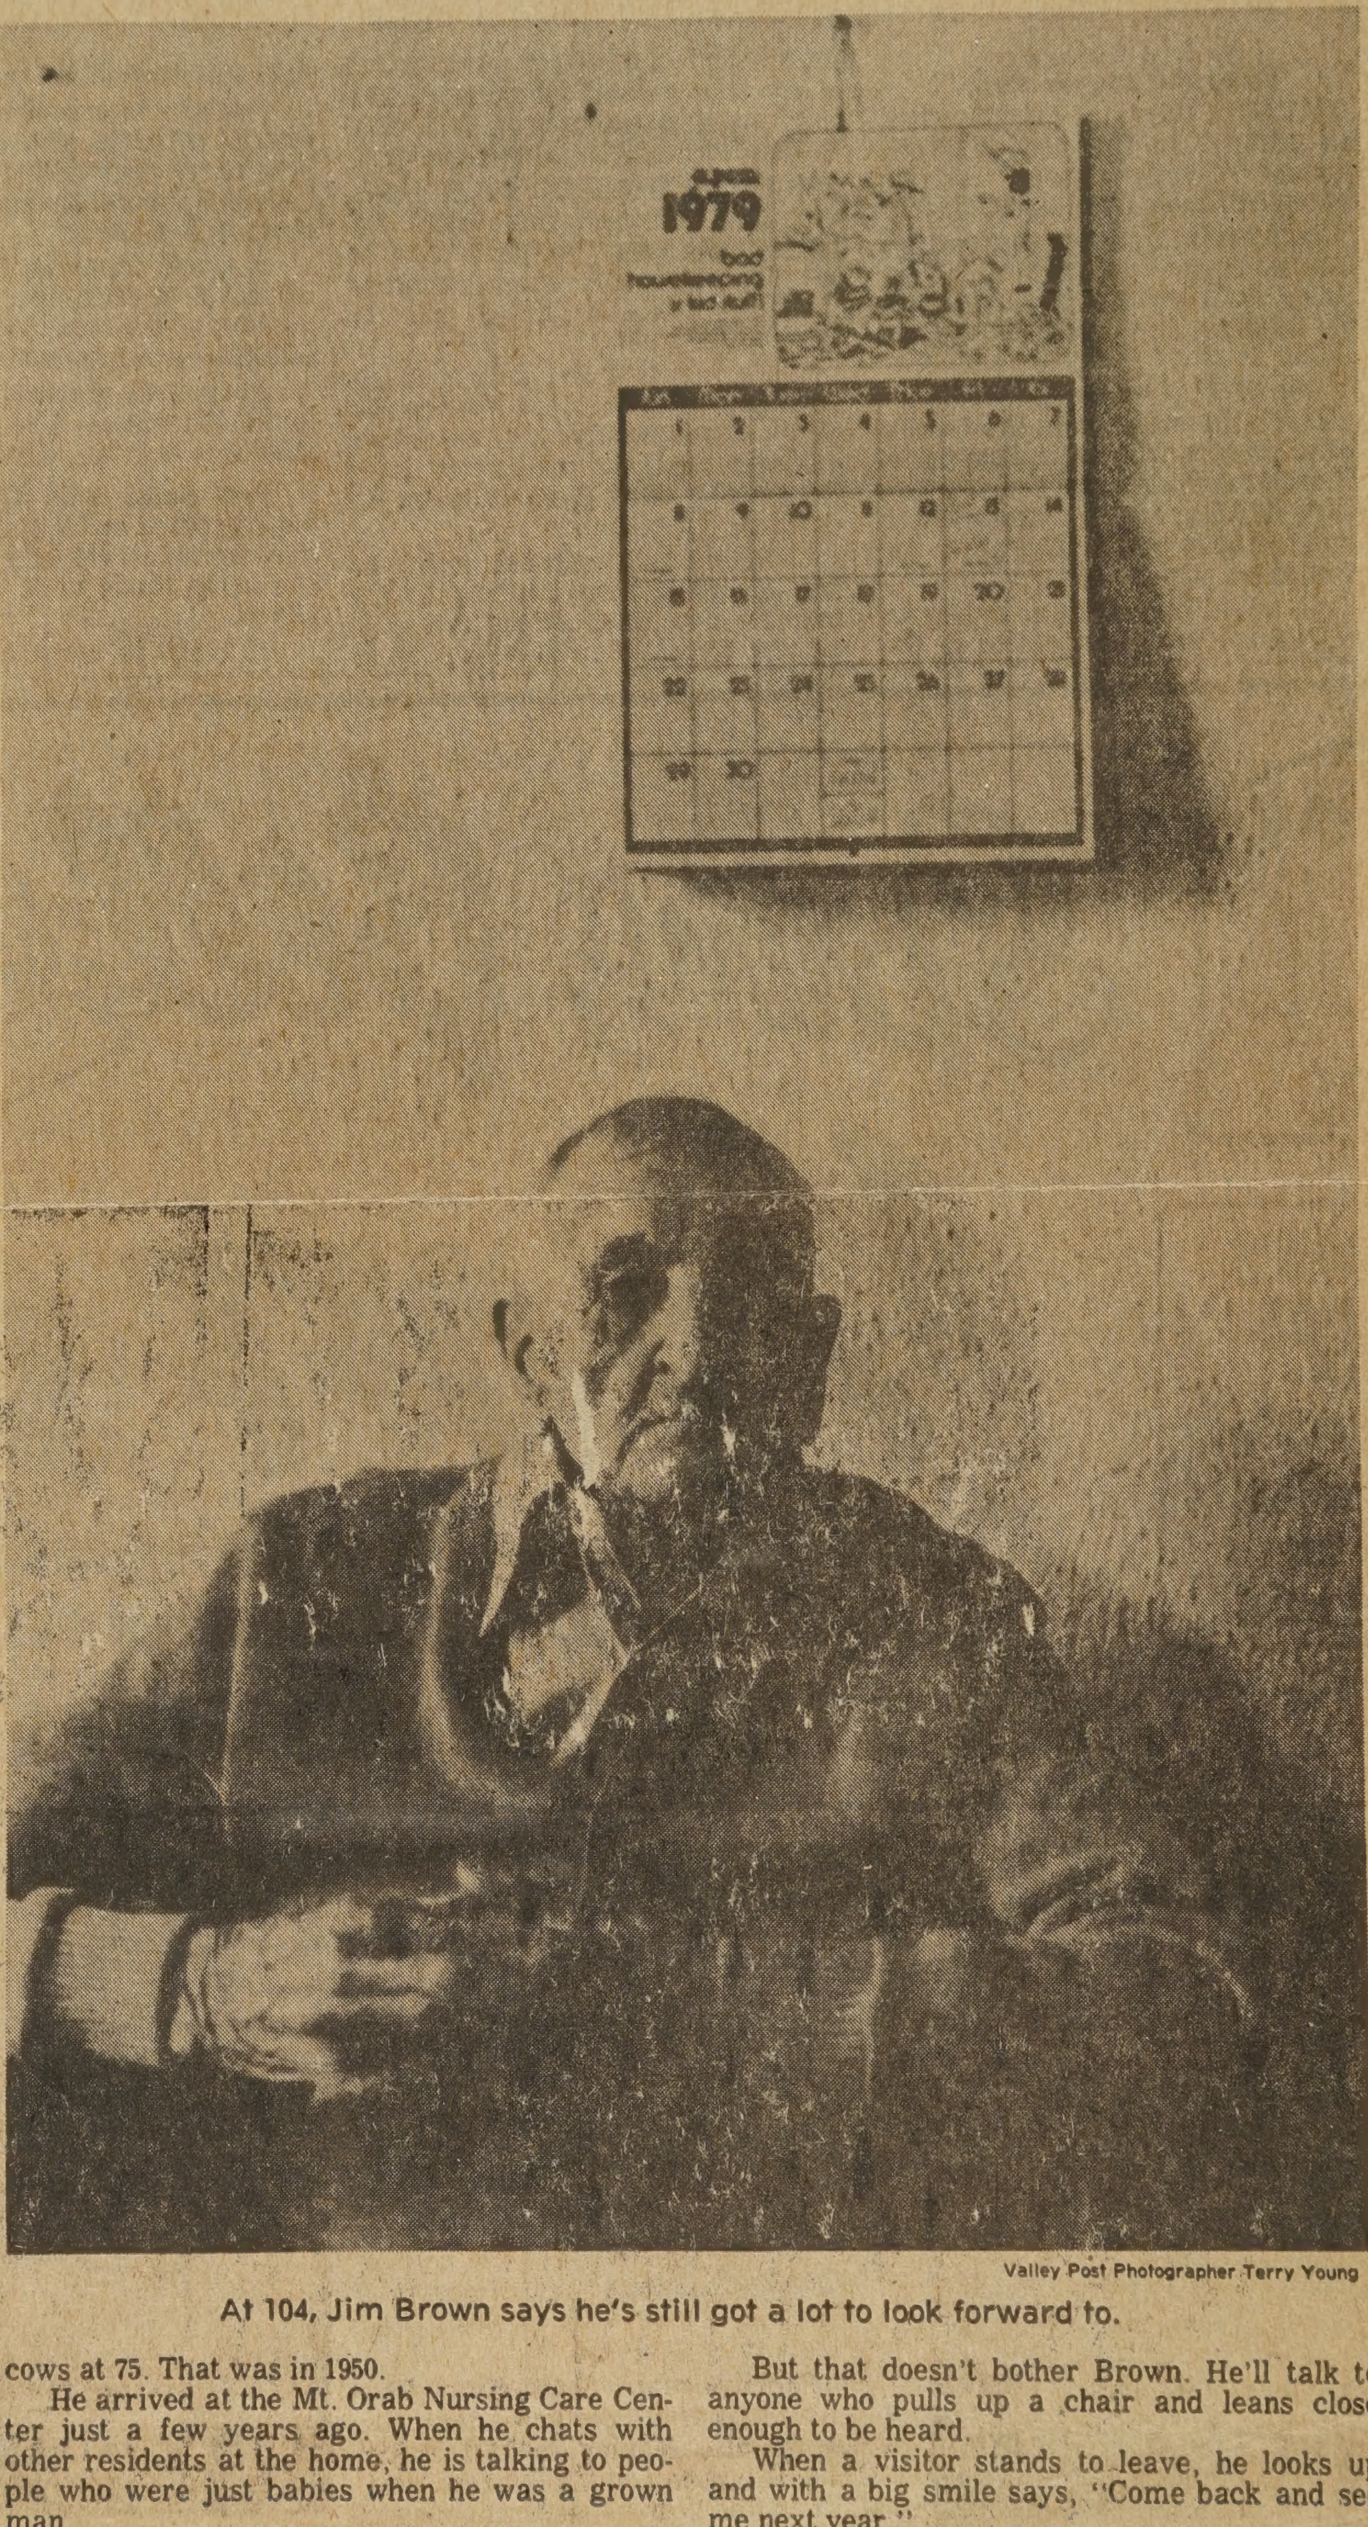
"I told him we were coming to his home to get married and he said 'let's do it here,'" Brown said.

So on the ice-covered creek, the preacher held a simple, outdoor ceremony.

"The preacher said he was on his way into town to buy some groceries, so I gave him a $2 bill for his services," he said.

HE WAS MARRIED to Lida for 65 years until her death.

Almost all of his life was devoted to the different farms he owned. And though the hard work never turned him into a monetarily rich man, he credits the difficult labor with his long life and bountiful memories.



Valley Post Photographer Terry Young

At 104, Jim Brown says he's still got a lot to look forward to.

He was still farming tobacco and milking cows at 75. That was in 1950.

He arrived at the Mt. Orab Nursing Care Center just a few years ago. When he chats with other residents at the home, he is talking to people who were just babies when he was a grown man.

But that doesn't bother Brown. He'll talk to anyone who pulls up a chair and leans close enough to be heard.

When a visitor stands to leave, he looks up and with a big smile says, "Come back and see me next year."

Sewer building under fire

By Ron Liebau
Valley Post Staff Reporter

BATAVIA—Prompt attention has been ordered to the new, $250,000 Clermont County sewer district building on Bauer Road and Ohio 32.

County commissioners have mandated no more payments on the building until certain improvements are made. The 5000-square-foot building houses the district's laboratory and some of its administrators.

That's the order from the county commissioners who are "disappointed" with the design and construction of the building which houses sewer district offices and a laboratory for the district.

"It would be putting it lightly to say that we are disappointed in the design and subsequent construction of the Bauer Road laboratory building," commissioners said in a letter to Don Reckers, sanitary engineer.

COMMISSIONERS TOLD Reckers the drainage was poor, the landscaping was "second-rate," the painting left pores which absorbed moisture and the garage suffered from water leaks.

"We feel that the problems can no longer be ignored and we are certainly dismayed that the consulting engineer and the contractor have permitted such circumstances to develop," they said.

Reckers told commissioners he has not given final approval to the building and resented the commisisioners criticizing him before his final recommendation was made.

Reckers is one of several sewer district officials who moved to the new one-level building Feb. 1. The district's laboratory started working there in December.

A grant from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency covered 75 percent of the cost. The rest—about $63,000— is county money.

Plans were prepared by McGill & Smith Engineers. The general contractor is Arnold L. Beck & Sons.

Jess Smith said Wednesday he has discussed building problems with the contractor. He said no payments are being made until work is completed.

"There is nothing basically wrong; the building is not finished," Smith said.

Smith, whose firm does substantial engineering work for the county, said he believes Harold Bissantz is criticizing the project because of a "personal vendetta."

Antagonism between the two emerged at a meeting to discuss the building's progress.

Smith said the building was originally designed to only house laboratory employees. In the second stage, office space for all sewer district employees was to be provided.

"The biggest expense is the laboratory," Smith said. "The equipment in there alone is worth $100,000."

"Uncle Jim" Brown, 104 . . . James Baker Brown, known as "Uncle Jim," observed his 104th birthday April 8, at the Mt. Orab Nursing Care Center. A native of the Huntington Township community, he is Brown County's oldest resident. Mentally alert, he still recalls names and events of years gone by. "Uncle Jim" has well passed an aim he had once in life to live to be as old as his father, Henry Bascom Brown, known as "Uncle Henry," who died in Russellville in 1932, a few months after passing the century mark.

Jim Brown follows in dad's footsteps — he also lives to be 100 years

James Baker Brown - centenarian

On Tuesday, April 8th, James Baker Brown was 100 years old. When he celebrated that birthday he achieved one of his goals, for his father, too lived until his centennial year.

James Brown, who lives at 512 East State Street in Georgetown, will have his birthday party, April 13th. His granddaughter, Barbara, who is Mrs. Donald Wahl -- will hold open house at her home in his honor. He is looking forward to visiting with friends, reminiscing with acquaintances and neighbors, and eating cake with all the trimmings.

There to help him celebrate will be his daughter, Mrs. Albert Knoche, who lives at 410 Home Street, around the corner, but close by; his grandchildren - three in addition to Mrs. Wahl - Charles Brown, Cincinnati; Arthur Knoche, Ripley and James Knoche, living in South Carolina.

There will also be fourteen great-grandchildren, and three great-great-grandchildren, who are all planning to attend the Sunday celebration.

James Baker Brown was the seventh child of Henry Bascom Brown and his wife, Drucilla Laney Brown. He was born in the area near Eagle Creek above Manchester and Aberdeen and lived all his life in the general vicinity of Ripley and Georgetown where he farmed until he was sixty years old.

He married Lida Belle Purdin in 1901. She died on her husband's 90th birthday.

Mr. Brown's father, Henry Bascom Brown, fondly known as "Uncle Henry" had been born in Brown County in 1832 and died shortly after his 100th birthday in December of 1932. The town of Russellville had a community celebration planned for him.

James Brown lives alone in an apartment at the East State address. His daughter, Mrs. Knoche, comes in each week to clean and do his laundry and marketing. His next door neighbors, Mrs. Kenneth Hall, Mrs. Creed Hall and Mrs. Hale, bring him a warm meal every day. But aside from failing eyesight, Mr. Brown enjoys good health and is usually in good spirits. He enjoys company and April has more than a birthday to celebrate because he is a baseball fan and the Reds' opener is of particular interest to him.

His mind is clear and whenever facts of the past are in question, "Barbie" calls her grandfather -- and grandfather clearly remembers. For example, she did not recall the address of one grandson, and Mr. Brown promptly provided it, and told her it was Irmo, South Carolina.

He recalls when he was married that he and his bride-to-be were riding to the minister's home in a closed buggy. It was February, 1901. They met the Reverend Thomas Glasscock enroute to the nearby store in Ellsberry where he was taking eggs to sell. Three Mile Creek was frozen over and they were crossing on the ice. Rev. Glasscock didn't want to turn back just then, so he climbed into the closed buggy and married them there.

He also recalls that a marriage license cost seventy-five cents, and he paid the preacher with a two dollar bill. He recalls also that Norton Burnett, a neighbor of the Reverend Glasscock, who was accompanying him to the store, served as a witness to that ceremony.

A small spry man, Mr. Brown still follows his habit of earlier days and arises before or by dawn; sometimes as early as 4 a.m. His only son, William Sherman Brown, died in August of 1948.

Mr. Brown enjoys his visits with his family and friends, though he finds them all much younger these days. He finds his days rather long in winter because he isn't "doing much" anymore. He keeps a couch ready, close to his television set, where he can drop down for a nap.

When a photographer was coming to take a picture, he wondered if he had to "dress up" or would it be okay if he wore his everyday clothes, and if he should comb his hair.

In January his phone number came up on the Cincinnati Enquirer Treasure Chest. Dwight Harman, a local businessman, took note of it and went to tell Mr. Brown he could win $50 is he answered. He called "Barbie", as he calls Mrs. Wahl, to see what he should do. During that day and the days following, several people called to rejoice with him; and he really had a busy time calling all his friends and relatives to tell them of his windfall.

So on Sunday James Baker Brown will blow out 100 candles and his great-great-granddaughters, Shannon and Kelley Wahl, and Ken Mason, his great-grandson, will be there to join the celebration.

Shannon and Kelley are the four and two year old daughters of Bill and Susan Beasley Wahl, and Ken is the three year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Mason (Martha Wahl), who live near Maysville.

To apply for the program, persons must be unemployed for at least 30 days or must be underemployed. Duerk said special consideration is given to persons who have been unemployed for long periods of time, veterans, welfare recipients and former manpower trainees.

"Some of the jobs developed by the program will be in public or nonprofit agencies and all of the jobs will meet existing service needs," Duerk said.
